emphasis on the secondary school will be replaced by sery school age was outlined to the Prince Rupert Junior Chamber of Commerce last night by Principal R. G. Moore of King Edward elementary school.

Speaking at the monthly meeting of the Junior Chamber in behalf of "Education Week," Mr Moore charged that British Columbia went to an extreme in following the American lead in emphasizing the importance secondary schools and that these have failed in the purpose f which they were intended.

"Proof of this failure was the lack of skilled workers and th high percentage of young men unfit for military service during the war," he asserted. "While our school system was not en tirely responsible for this,

"Emphasis on the secondary chool failed to meet the problem because when children reach that age they are too old to absorb tht proper backgrounds. Habits are formed earlier in

Under the sponsorship of the program was entirely different Anglican Young People's Club than that of the first night. All 'Sadie Hawkins Party' was held those who heard it were again in the Oddfellows' Hall on Satentranced. It was popularly arurday night. The guests were ranged, not too ponderous but dressed "Dognatch Style" and such characters as "Lil Abner," Arranged in three groups, the Daisy Mae," "Hairless Joe," 'Lonesome Polecat," "Moonbeam 'McSwine" and the "Wolf Gal" were easily recognizable. "Kickapoo Joy Juice" (or a fruit punch) was served at midnight instead of coffee. As no pork chops were available, the "Dog Patchers" and "Skunk Hollowers" had to be satisfied with hot dogs. J. Mc-Kay, president, was master of ceremonies. The purpose of the party was to obtain more recruits for the recently organized Anglican Young People's Associdoor; Lee Gordon and B. R. ation.

CHEMISTRY

THE SNOWBALL doesn't hit Johnny ... and his Chemistry book comes off unscathed, because C-I-L chemistry gives us bookbinding materials that are impervious to weather. Known as "PX" Cloth and "Fabrikoid", these materials are generously endowed with beauty too. Invaluable for binding books, for upholstery and trunk coverings, they find their way into a host of articles like handbags, doilies and many others. They are examples of the many useful and attractive products that stem from the chemist's laboratory.
