TRUNDLERS ARE ACTIVE

Enrolment of 350
In Various Leagues

Enrolment of more than 350 prospective players in the various five-pin bowling leagues last night presages the most active bowling season in years, according to Lloyd Morris, who is directing the leagues at the Rex Bowling Alleys.

Regular players in the four leagues total 232, while each of the 44 teams plans on having at least three spare players. Heaviest response came from the ladies, whose numbers were sufficient for 20 teams. The ladies' league, with 100 players, will be divided into two schedules, one to play on Tuesday night and the other on Thursday.

In the men's league there are 12 teams, with 60 players. The men's teams will play on Monday evenings. Each team has five regular players.

The mixed league also has 12 teams, each with six players. Mixed league schedules will be played on Wednesday nights.

Players on all teams are drawn from business and industrial organizations and clubs throughout the city.

War Assets employees, who have organized a league of their own, will play on Friday evenings.

A ten-pin league has not yet been organized, Mr. Morris said. Play in the five-pin league will start next Monday evening.

Terrace Hunters Bagged Two Goats

TERRACE—A party of hunters left for Usk Saturday afternoon and returned Sunday bringing back with them two goats. Party consisted of the Spooner Brothers of Hazelton, Russell Hutton of Kitwanga, Joe Schultze, John Hagan, Dudley Little.

Accuracy Vital—Shells Scarce As Big Game Season Opens

Prospective hunters are oiling their firing pieces for the opening of the game season in the Prince Rupert district on Saturday and, according to local sporting goods dealers, they will have to make every shot count. A desperate shortage of ammunition is in the offing.

The ammunition shortage, sporting goods dealers have been informed by their wholesalers' agents, is caused largely by a strike at the Anaconda Brass Co. plant in the United States, source of most of the metal used in cartridge cases.

One dealer gloomily repeated a prediction that 22 calibre shells will be impossible to obtain. Larger calibre bullets and shotgun shells, he felt, might be a little easier.

Thus, while game might be plentiful, the bullets which transform game into trophies will be precious and accuracy will be a vital asset to the ambitious hunter.

On Saturday the season for deer, grizzly bear and blue grouse opens, while the moose season begins September 23. The season for ducks and geese starts on November 1.

However, any hunter who cannot wait for those opening dates can legally go after black bear. The season on those persistent marauders never closes.

SHORT SPORT

Still able to win games or save them, Maurice Leyland, hero to Yorkshire and England for 20 years, has decided to quit cricket. He bows out, at the end of this county season, with a record that should give him a spot beside the game's great. His county cap worn at a saucy angle, ready smile and irrepressible humor, flashy batting and teasing, left-handed bowling, show that Leyland at 46 hasn't changed much since he went to Yorkshire as a corner in his middle 20's. A glance at his record shows how he came along. In big-time cricket he has scored more than 30,000 runs, including 80 centuries, claimed nearly 500 wickets and demonstrated near perfection in fielding and throwing. In 41 test matches he has scored 2,767 runs, including a century in his first test. The England stalwart, whose choice was once automatic, was not included in this year's series, but most players think that only the urge to scale down the average age dictated his omission. He shares the record for the biggest test stand in England—382 runs against Australia in 1938.

There's a new deal in Britain's billiards set-up. Old-timers of the game were a bit surprised when Champion Joe Davis persuaded two of the country's leading amateurs—John Pulman, an Exeter income-tax clerk, and Albert Brown of Birmingham—to turn professional. Not long ago aspiring youngsters about to enter the exclusive play-for-money ranks were invariably warned "don't!" There wasn't much future in it, financially. But boom times have come and players are overloaded with offers. Pulman and Brown have joined a growing team of former amateurs, but it will take some mighty cue-wizardry to fill the shoes of Davis, master of them all.

One of the biggest pre-season English Football League transfer has been completed. Horace Cumner, Arsenal outside left and 17 times a Welsh international, lined up with Notts County when the league opened August 31. In return the Gunners got inside left Ian McPherson, double D.F. Pathfinder pilot who frequently assisted Arsenal as a wartime guest player.

WOMAN'S LIFE SAVED

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (P)—Shortage of coal has resulted in no gas being available for cooking in many towns for several hours a day.
