FINE RECORD IN ATHLETICS

Mrs. H. A. Taylor, Vancouver, Visiting Here, Excusably Proud of Soldier Son

Trooper Hugh Taylor, who is attending Khaki University in London, England, now after serving in the Canadian Army as a trooper, is an athlete of no mean sort and his mother, Mrs. H. A. A collection of some 15 medals which Mrs. Taylor has with her are ample proof of Hugh's prowess.

Probably the highlight trophy is a handsome silver mounted plaque which was presented to Trooper Taylor at Nijmegen, Holland, last August from no less a person than Field Marshal Sir Bernard Montgomery. It represented the interservices championship in high jumping covering Army, Navy and Air Force.

The program is contained in an act introduced in the legislature by Premier E. C. Manning. It proposes the establishment of a five-man board of credit commissioners to evaluate Alberta's economic resources to maintain balance between the purchasing power of the people and the estimate of collective prices of goods and services in the province.

An eligible pensioner would be credited by the government with a cheque or voucher for the amount of the pension. This would be deposited in the treasury of a co-operating bank and the pensioner would draw on this for his purchases.
