C.C.F. AND JAPANESE

Anguar MacInnis, C.C.F. member of the House of commons for Vancouver East, returned from a narvellous tour of Australia in time to make critical omment upon the Canadian government's plan to pack, won himself a piece of man who came with a little pack instruction periods in a way that olve the Japanese problem in this country for the uture, says the Vancouver Sun in a recent editorial. The plan heard of. unnounced by the Prime Minister is an invasion of Janadian citizenship, he argues.

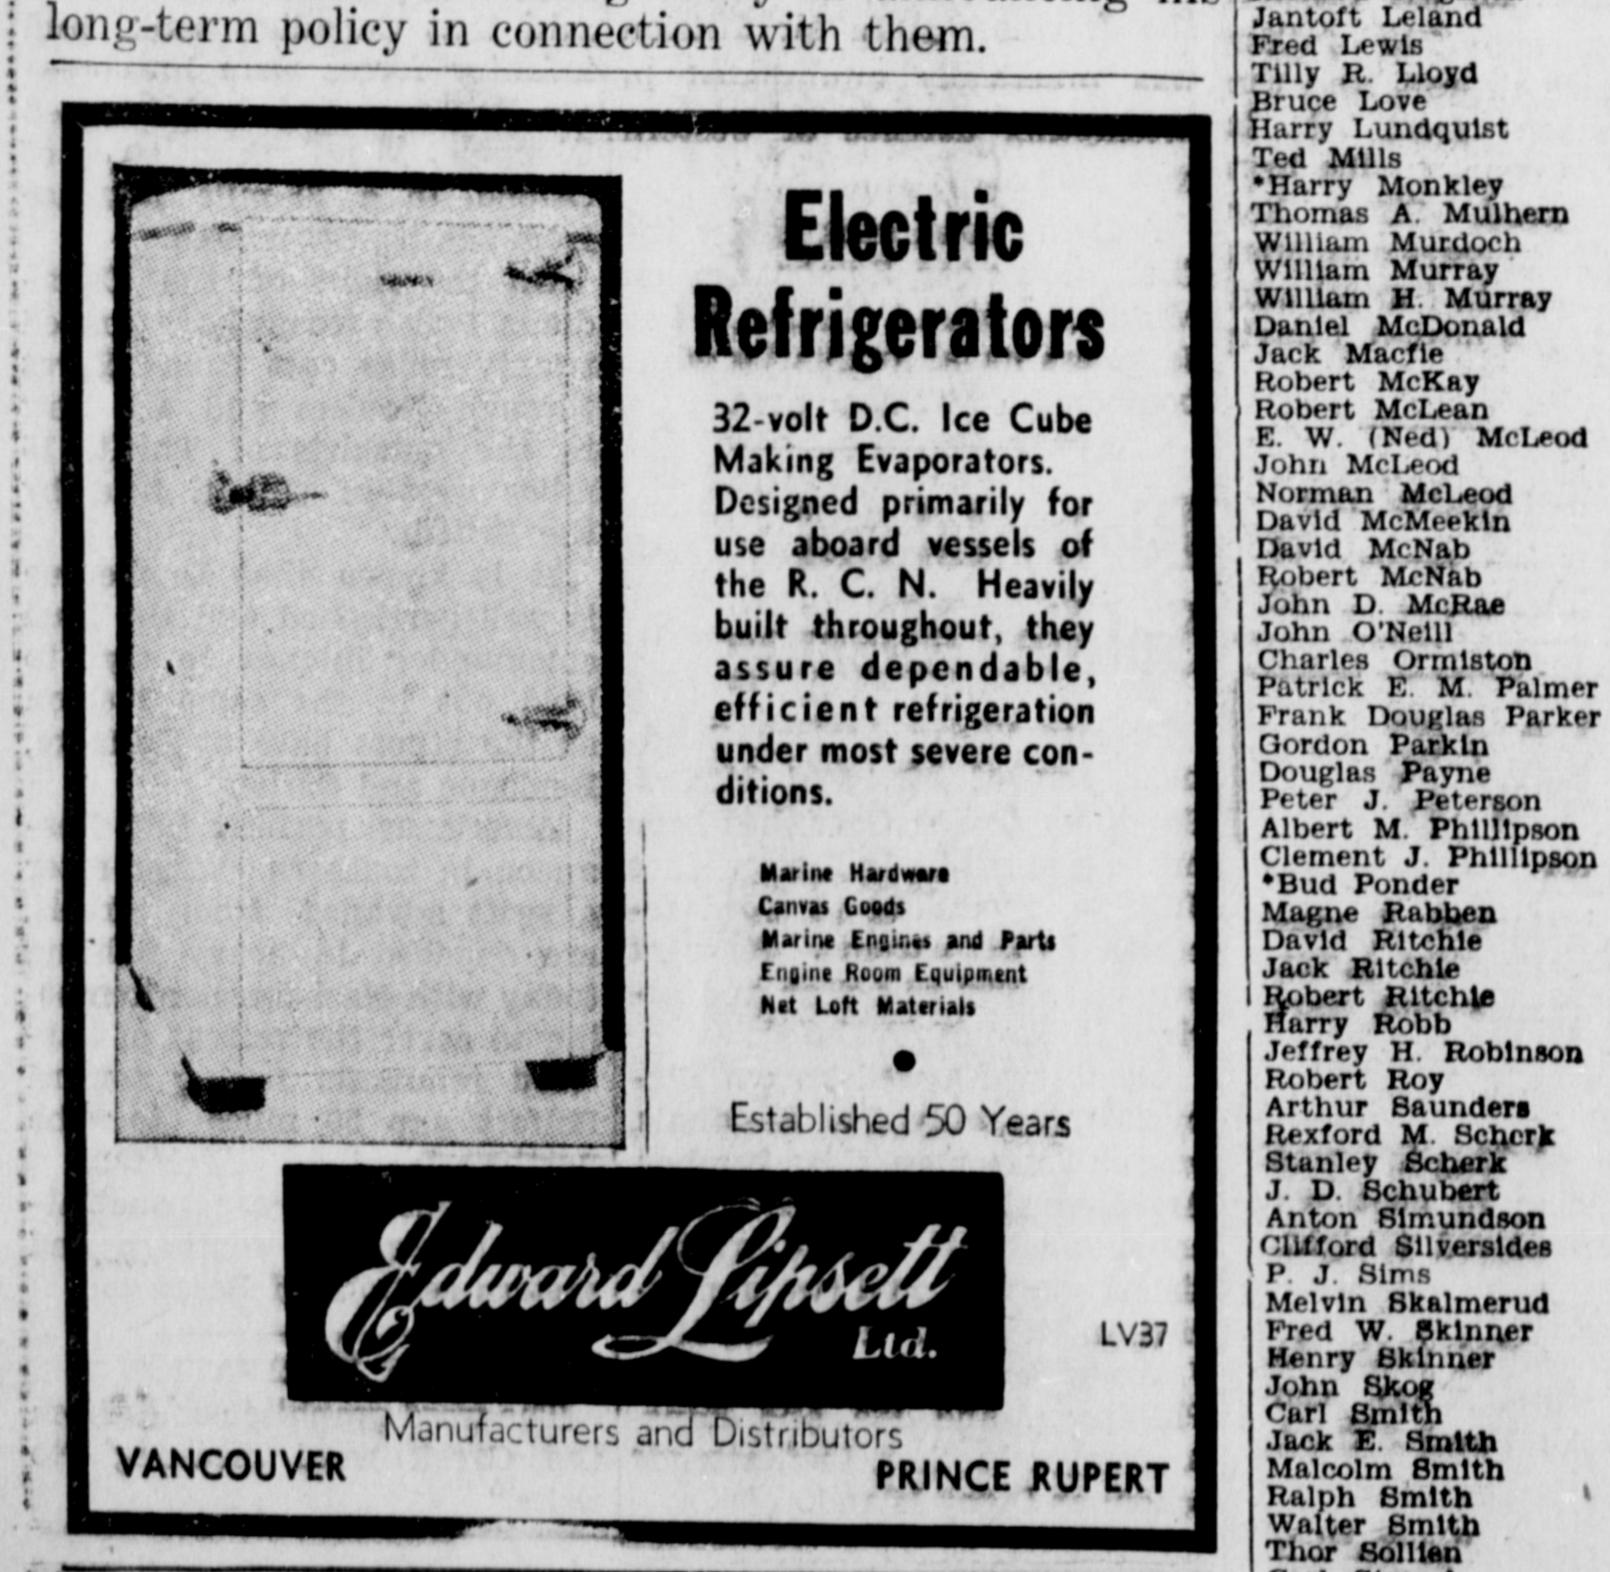

This same guestion has been asked of The Sun nany times, and it is worthy of careful answer. If the Canadian-born person of Japanese blood is under any circumstances to be deprived of his rights, not allowed to vote or to be deported, then why not apply the same treatment to persons of German or talian blood? The reply is that there are essential lifferences.

The most important is the matter of dual citizenship. A considerable proportion of the Japanese, sidney Alexander now many nobody here clearly knows, was required Peter D. > The difficulty this year, acone of an increase in the number of students-the enrolment is about the same as last year. There are, however, a greater number of classes. This is explained by the fact that while there was only one Grade 12 class graduated last year, there are three Grade Seven classes entering Booth this term.

There are three classes each of Grades Seven, Eight, Nine and Ten, two of Grade Eleven, and one of Grade Twelve. The problem of accommodation has largely been solved by dividing classes during some periods, and rearranging the day into six 55minute periods, instead of eight 40-minute periods as formerly.

The regular 40-minute study periods have been eliminated, and students are allowed to study in the final minutes of the longer instruction periods.

An interesting item in the curriculum is the return of Latin as an optional subject in Grades 10 and 11. Music, which taught formerly only in junior high, has been extended to Grades 9 and 11, and art courses will be given in Grade 11. A senior matriculation course in

W.D.'s Finish on Top in Competition—Deciding Game Next Monday

The Women's Area Softball League season that will soon be completed was in many ways a model campaign. that it was the circuit's first year of operation it ran with remarkable smoothness.

All six teams which started the season finished it, a notable inning on a triple and a single feat in itself. Every postponed game was later played so that each club took part in ten en-

In the first half of the season the W.D.'s and Alumnae were in first and second places respectively. But the Wrens and the Allies made strong bids for the top spot in the second half.

Youngest team in the league, Booth High School, did themselves proud, winning three of their games despite the odds against them. The C.W.A.C.'s won only one game, but they were in there punching all season long. There was an abundance of good sportsmanship exhibited by all the teams. The W.D.'s finished the schedule in the top rung but they had to come from behind to even the final series, and the fifth and deciding fixture will be played
