News of the Men and Women on Active Service
(Contributions Welcome)

Petty Officer Jack Armstrong, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Armstrong, Cotton Street, has been in on the naval operations in connection with the invasion of France. He is serving aboard motor torpedo boats of the Royal Canadian Navy which are slashing through the waters of the English Channel with winged swiftness and terrific fire power to clear shipping out of the path of the invasion armies. The Royal Canadian Navy plays an important part in the manning of these craft.

Local friends have heard from Lloyd Corbett who was with an Ontario Regiment here a year or so ago and has been serving with the Seaforths in Italy. Lloyd was with the regimental band here and became well known and popular among a number of friends who will be sorry to hear that he is now in hospital with shrapnel wounds. He writes cheerfully, however.

Stoker Tommy Ross, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ross and a Prince Rupert born boy, was a member of the crew of a naval landing craft that ferried first troops to the coast of France at the time of the invasion two weeks ago. Tommy, who is the grandson of Hugh Killin, a well known veteran of the last war, and Mrs. Killin, attended Prince Rupert and Jasper schools, worked as a guide in the Rockies and later at the local shipyard. He joined the Navy in 1943 and, after taking a course at Comox, Vancouver Island, went overseas late in the same year.

NEW BAND IS HEARD

Three or four months ago it was decided that a Port Band was desirable at Prince Rupert so, under the leadership of Arthur B. Evans of Omaha and Alan Manning of Seattle a search was made for prospective bandsmen, a goodly number, and some particularly good ones, being found. Followed a period of persevering and assiduous practice carried out in addition to ordinary work. During recent weeks the band has appeared in a few street parades and not long ago its first concert was held. Last night it gave its first full-dress recital at the Acropolis Hill recreation hall under Bandmaster Manning and all those in attendance were ready to admit freely that it has been developed into one of the finest and most versatile musical groups in this city. It was really a delightful entertainment.

The program covered all the ranges of regulation band music from straight marching numbers to classical selections and to the musically discriminating in the audience it was pleasing to note the excellence that was displayed in the latter which included such exacting items as Albert Ketelbey's "Chinese Temple Garden," Alexander Sibelius' "Egyptian Ballet," Jerome Kern's complete "Show Boat" ing trumpets, sax and introducing a 'cello, went into a session and Waller's "Honeysuckle Ro the tonal effects and teeth precision of which really little for criticism. The ma included "Transportation O (Hetman Hupfield), and the ways popular Sousas num "El Capitan" and "Stars Stripes."

But the band was by means confined to regula selections and, as delig novelties, presented an amu arrangement of Max Denm "Turkey in the Straw" and went swinging in Thomp currently popular "Ma Doats'."

For even further diversi the Pep Band section, fea sion of jive which was put with eclat, such numbers "There's Going to be a G Day," "Trumpet Blues" and nie Laurie" being offered typical blare.

A trumpet trio "Triolet" ler Hershey Leonard) by Manning. Pete Sorensen of land and John Stressler of tie brought down the house.

The band turned iron in mental to vocal for the in mission when a male ch consisting entirely of band under the direction of As ant Bandmaster Harry Nor of Cresco, Iowa, provided harmony in Speaks' "By and Enders' spiritual "Jo Fit de Battle ob Jericho."

It was indeed a fine en tainment and it is to be h that Prince Rupert music ers more generally may have opportunity of later hea from this excellent new musical organization.
