NEW DANCE BAND STAGES CONCERT

The "Sophisticates," a 10-piece dance band led by Sgt. John Stroessler and composed of members of the Sub-Port of Embarkation Army Band, were in concert at the Acropolis Hill Sergeants' Mess last night. The new musical aggregation effectively demonstrated the tenor band technique which has made it a favorite attraction at military functions in and around Prince Rupert.

With CBC announcer Bob Willet at the mike, the "Sophisticates" ran the gamut of modern dances, from Rhumba to Dixieland. Outstanding among their sweet and swing presentations were the group vocals on "South American Way" and the "Trolley Song."

Credit for the organization belongs to Sgt. John Stroessler who fronts the combo, does the arrangements and solos on the trumpet. Sgt. Bill Bell, Cpl. Bill McKeivley and Cpl. Eddie Gaik provide sax support for trumpeters Cpl. Gordon Fitch and Pte. Pete Miljenovitch, while Sgt. Harry Normann, piano, Pte. Jimmy West, bass, Pte. Mel Smith, guitar, and Pte. Charlie Fitzgerald, drums, make up the rhythm section of Prince Rupert's new versatile dance combination.

With the capture of Cajais, the bag of prisoners taken by the 1st Canadian Army since its first action in July mounted to 73,000.
