SALARY CONTROL EASED OTTAWA- Officials of the revenue and labor departments in Ottawa have announced that modification of the wartime salaries control order will benefit senior civil servants as well as employees in private enterprise. The order had outlawed pay increases unless approved by a revenue department controller. The restrictions now are being eased to eliminate cases of socalled gross inequality.

LOAN OPENING CEREMONIES

OTTAWA-The plaza before the House of Parliament here was the focal point of ceremonies all across Canada Saturday inaugurating the Seventh Victory Loan. Young veterans just back from the battlefronts, using telephones, assigned relatives or sweethearts to launch nine war and supply ships from ways in various parts of the country across Canada, some of the ships destined for service in the Pacific. The veterans were welcomed home by the famous young actress, Shirley Temple. Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King told an Ottawa gathering that duties of veterans have been far more onerous than those of people remaining in Canada and urged civilians to support to a conclusion work which the veterans have done.

SOLAR HOME HEATING

MONTREAL — A prediction comes from Montreal that solar radiant heating may well become one of the striking features of post-war home building in Canada. It was made in an address by A. S. Morgan of Toronto the the twentieth annual conference of Canadian purchasing agents association. Mr. Morgan stated that the first Canadian solar radiant heated home is being constructed in Toronto. It will have an aluminum roof, aluminum windows and an aluminum duct work. Bir. Morgan added that armor plate-glass and patented theremophane windows will flood the house with sunlight.
