INTRIGUE FILM HERE

A plain white envelope is the magnet for murder, kidnapping, wild pursuit and breath-taking suspense in "Background to Danger," scheduled for the Capitol on Friday and Saturday.

George Raft is cast as a tough, hard-hitting G-Man who runs head-on into trouble galore when he is given the envelope, supposedly containing money and securities, by pretty Ana Remzi (Osa Massen) whom he meets on a Bagdad-Istanbul express, nearing Ankara, in Turkey.

The envelope contains, however, material that a sinister crew of Nazi agents are after at any cost. Headed by the saucy ruthless Colonel Robinson (Sydney Greenstreet), they put Raft into hot water.

Raft is kidnapped by the Gestapo but is rescued by Peter Lorre and Brenda Marshall, playing two Russian counter-espionage agents. Raft learns that the envelope, stolen from his hotel room, contains Nazi-forged plans of an alleged Russian plan to attack Turkey. Determined to thwart this scheme to win Turkey over as an Axis ally, Raft tracks down the Nazi agents and successfully foils the plot.

Besides Raft, Peter Lorre and Brenda Marshall head the supporting cast.

All ABOARD FOR BERLIN!

"There's only one thing that worries me," said Mr. Picobac who was arranging with his bank manager to subscribe for the new Victory Bonds. "The peace won't be dictated at Berlin."

"How's that?" demanded M. Christie, the bank manager.

"There won't be enough of Berlin left," replied Mr. Picobac. "However — we'll put this loss over first and settle the details afterwards. Let's go! Everybody!"
