LETTERBOX

POSITION OF NURSES

Editor, Daily News:

It was with surprise that the general duty nurses of the Prince Rupert General Hospital staff read the comment on the request for a twenty dollar a month increase in salary submitted by letter to the last board meeting of the hospital.

This method of informing us of the board's actions seems a little unfair since our appeal was made direct to them by letter. Especially is this true since no word was received by us prior to the appearance of these comments.

It also is a little inconsistent that your paper saw fit to publish the board's report without first hearing both sides of the question. It is impossible to draw a fair conclusion without doing so.

We believe that this can be easily corrected by publishing this letter in a place of equal prominence in your paper to that given the board's comment to our application for an increase in salary.

We do not ask sympathy, only fairness and understanding, and that the board would only take time to look into the records of this hospital and realize that the tremendous turnover in nursing personnel in the past year must be due to unsatisfactory and unfair conditions. Why should any unmarried nurse on the graduate staff work four weeks alternate night and day duty at a lower salary than the married nurse who takes only day duty with a choice of hours? Even the ward aids some of whom have little or no previous hospital training are paid only a slightly lower wage than the graduate nurse. We feel that a well organized nursing personnel should be the primary consideration of the board and can only be maintained by an efficient and more permanent staff, thus giving to the public greater service.

We believe that public opinion will sustain us in our demands that we at least be given the privilege of asking from our board members an adjustment of conditions without being pictured as selfish and unreasonable.

—The General Duty Nurses.

OBERON-AHERNE HEROIC LOVERS

Are Co-starred in "First Comes Courage" at Capitol Theatre

The dramatic story of a courageous woman who marries within the enemy's gates in order to save her country, even though her heart was with her brave young commando, is promised patrons of the Capitol Theatre, when "First Comes Courage," co-starring Merle Oberon and Brian Aherne, comes here on Wednesday and Thursday.

Miss Oberon and Aherne, in the leading roles, portray lovers who are forced to put their personal lives aside for the exigencies of war, snatching brief moments together when duty to country permits. She is a woman of high birth in a conquered town in Norway, he a British Commando Captain.

Hated by her townspeople, who suspect her of being a Quisling, the girl is, in reality, an important member of the Norwegian underground. She pretends to be in love with the Major of the German garrison in order to get vital information which she passes through the underground to London. When the Nazi begins to suspect her, her true love, the Commando, is sent to her little Norwegian village to dispose of the Major.

The lovers meet again, and the final scenes of their escape from the Germans during a big Commando raid, are said to reach a new high in film drama.
