GHOST FILM AT CAPITOL

"The Uninvited" Spine-tingling Melodrama Here

A spine-tingling melodrama about ghosts, spirits and a haunted house, "The Uninvited" coming Thursday, Friday and Saturday to the Capitol Theatre, has as top stars the trio of Ray Milland, Ruth Hussey and Donald Crisp.

The story is a mixture of weird happenings and romance, with Ray Milland and Ruth Hussey as sister and brother and Donald Crips as grandfather of Gail Russel who falls head over heels for Ray. There are many twists along the way, however, before even the slightest semblance of sanity can be attributed to all members of the cast in this tense and exciting story.

A typically English setting is used as the background of "Uninvited." Ray and Ruth attracted by a lovely cottage called Windward House on a high cliff at the ocean's edge, purchase it outright from Donald Crisp. Gail, his granddaughter, protests against the sale for sentimental reasons since her mother while living there, met death in a plunge over the cliff.

It is through this disappearance in a somewhat mystic manner that spirits visit Windward House nightly to haunt all who dare to occupy the cottage. Through a powerful scent of perfume, frightening sobs and icy blasts, the unseen spirits are ever-present and oddly menacing. Their effect on Miss Russell is most prominent and for that reason, Ray, Ruth and a country doctor, Alan Napier, find it imperative to clear up the mystery.

How they accomplish it is told in the intriguing story.
