Hot Weather Causes Train to Derail Near Pr. George

Exceptionally warm weather in the interior was the cause of a train derailment east of Prince George yesterday afternoon and the consequent interruption of traffic until the line can be cleared. Tonight's train from the east, due at 10:45, is five hours late and would bring it in at 3:45 a.m.

The train was at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon that a heavy work train was passing four miles east of Hansard, about 50 miles east of Prince George, when a "sun kink" caused by the expansion of rails due to sudden heat, occurred underneath the gravel cars, six of which were derailed. The engine was clear and there were no injuries. Considerable damage was done to the track.

Wrecking equipment was moved to the scene from Jasper and Smithers and it was expected the line would be clear again by this afternoon. Transfer of passengers, baggage, express and mail was effected from the train which left here for the East Thursday evening and that which left Jasper for here yesterday. It was expected that traffic would be moving normally over the line again today.

It is 'some time since there has been a "sun kink" on this line of the Canadian National Railways.

Prince George yesterday reported a maximum temperature of 88 with minimum of 42.

URGING CONTROL

Patullo Forecasts Some Missions Needed After War

There were many centralized missions which during the war remain but some might be very detrimental to the peace if they were permitted to continue unduly long, said T. Patullo, M.L.A., for Prince Rupert in addressing the Junior Chamber of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce Thursday night.

There would, no doubt, be efforts made to continue centralized control at Ottawa but these should have to be guarded against and a close watch maintained on provincial interests. Patullo emphasized the importance of the province retaining and never surrendering its right to the income tax base.

Patullo's exclusive as well as collaborative jurisdiction should be clearly defined as between the federal and provincial governments, Mr. Patullo said. He felt that the federal government should assume greater share of the responsibility for social services in the province of British Columbia had in the past led the way.

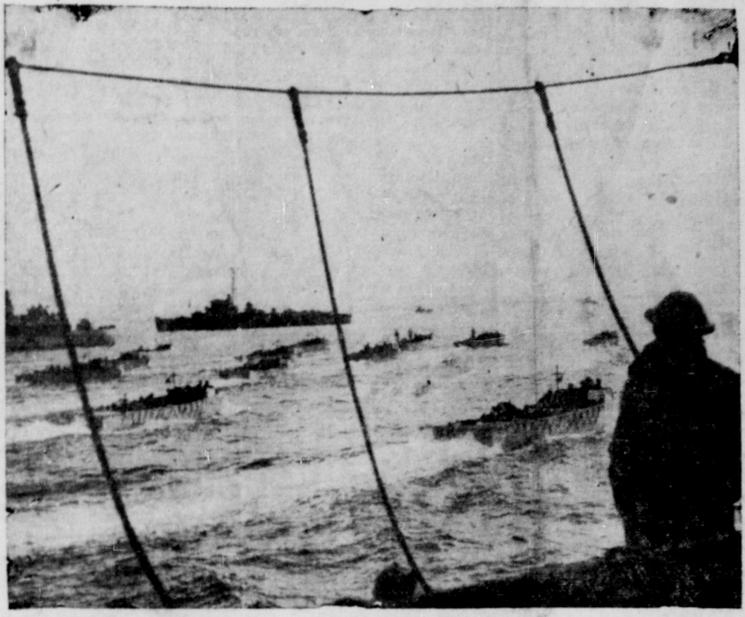

Speaking of public financial aid, Mr. Patullo declared that Eastern Canada at present is in a dictatorial position and was not to the best interest of British Columbia.

The former premier referred to the important part that men would of necessity play in the complex and difficult problem which would face the world after the war.

Mr. Patullo offered to come at any time the Junior Chamber might desire his assistance in dealing with public affairs.

WHAT THE GERMANS SAW OFF THE FRENCH COAST—Nazi lookouts on the French coast and Nazi reconnaissance pilots saw this scene duplicated a hundred times in the early hours of June 6, as the Allied armies under General Eisenhower launched their long-awaited invasion of Europe. While destroyers stand guard, dozens of landing craft loaded with fighting men dash shoreward to take and hold a beachhead. This picture was taken during the last pre-invasion manoeuvres and shows Canadian troops making practice landings. They used the same technique when they hurled themselves on the beaches of Le Havre and Cherbourg.

Finishing Highway

Minister of Natural Resources Suggests Province Share in Cost

OTTAWA, June 10—An offer from the Dominion government to share with British Columbia the cost of improving the section of the Prince Rupert highway between Kitwanga and Hazelton was conditionally forecast in the House of Commons by Mines and Resources Minister T. A. Crerar.

The minister, speaking of the $3 million appropriation for completion and maintenance of the highway west of Kitwanga to Prince Rupert also indicated that the responsibility of keeping up the road would be turned over to the province when the war is over.

"Will the Dominion maintain the road until the conclusion of the war with Japan?" asked Howard Green (Progressive Conservative Vancouver South).

"I will not attempt to make any prediction now as to what may be done next year," the minister replied.

Concerning the section east of Kitwanga, which British Columbia members urged should be rebuilt by the Dominion government, Mr. Crerar said it was possible there would be a surplus in the portion of the appropriation allotted for maintenance work.

"If there is such a surplus," the minister declared, "then I am quite willing to say to the government of British Columbia that if they will duplicate what we provide for the measure of rehabilitation of the road from Kitwanga to Hazelton, we will be prepared to go ahead."

He reiterated his previous statement that the Dominion was committed only to build the highway from Kitwanga to Prince Rupert. The section east of Kitwanga to Hazelton, he said, had been previously constructed.

The House in committee approved the vote.

HER BROTHER NOW GENERAL

Mrs. Marion K. Bates Gets News of V.C. Winner in This War

SMITHERS, June 10 — Mrs. Marion K. Bates of Smithers was the glad recipient of a letter from her brother, Major-General Villiers Samuel French, V.C., a few days ago. She had not heard from him for a long time and was surprised to know that he had been a prisoner of war in Italy for some time.

He wrote that the only thing that sustained them during incarceration in a prison camp was the Red Cross parcels which they received and the hope that they might escape some day from their captors.

Eventually General French was selected to accompany a peace emissary to the Allies and so was released from captivity and returned to England.

He wrote that he was amazed to find that the general public did not realize the work that the Red Cross was doing in this war but that to him it was a miracle.

Lord French, Commander-in-Chief of the British Armies in the last war, was the uncle of Mrs. Bates and her brother, General French.

Mrs. Bates had not known that her brother was a prisoner of war nor did she know that he was a major-general and had won the V.C., until she received the letter a few days ago.

Americans Only 15 Miles From Cherbourg After British and Canadians Also Take Towns—Heaviest Tank Fight

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS OF ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, June 10 (CP) — The British and Canadians today hammered at German armored divisions in the heaviest tank engagement since the Allied landings were made in the Caen sector. Vichy radio admitted that the Canadians "have made some slight advances" southwest of Bayeux.

The Americans battered their way towards Cherbourg and rammed another column southward in a squeeze attack on Carentan, key town guarding the neck of the peninsula at its narrowest point. They captured Treviers. The German radio said that the Nazis withdrew spearheads to shorten the defence line south of Montebourg after fresh Allied paratrooper landings. Montebourg is 15 miles southeast of Cherbourg.

Nazi Navy Frustrated

Enemy Vessels Unable to Get Into Invasion Waters — Four Trawlers are Sunk

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS OF ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, June 10 (CP)—Royal Navy light coastal ships sank four heavily armed German trawlers today off the Dutch coast at a cost of one motor torpedo boat as first attempts by German naval craft to enter the invasion coast were frustrated.

The Allies blew up one Nazi destroyer, chased one aground in flames and scored hits on another two which escaped. The grounded vessel was attacked later by Royal Canadian Air Force Beaufighters which shot at least seventy rocket projectiles into it.

Meanwhile delayed dispatches from the field listed two additional towns as being in Allied hands. They were Courseulles and Staubin on Seine Bay north and northwest of Caen. The Americans captured Isigny, seven miles northeast of Carentan, moving on today to take Treviers, midway between Isigny and Bayeux.

An Allied communique said that the British and Canadians in the Caen area repulsed heavy enemy attacks. German broadcasts said that 400,000 men were fighting in the Normandy Peninsula with about 200,000 on each side.

With improved weather, Allied sky fleets Friday night and Saturday ripped at Nazi railways, roads, troop and tank concentrations and positions behind the battle line. Up to 500 American heavy bombers attacked German air fields in Brittany and Normandy today.

SUNBURN TOUCHY SUBJECT

"None but the brave deserve the fair—" a poet tells us, but he neglects to instruct on what happens when the fair become variously tanned as many did as a result of yesterday's spendthrift sunshine.

Being a poet he delicately ignores the rough fate of those who lay rough hands on another's sunburned anatomy. Possibly he was unfortunate enough to live in some place where it rained every day, and never had occasion to think of such things.

These matters are spoken of because Friday was the warmest day so far this year. The mercury rose to 72 degrees and the minimum during the 24-hour period was 63 degrees.

Not since September 8, 1943, has the temperature risen so high. Not since August 5, 1943, has the temperature been higher. On that date it rose to 77 degrees, the highest recorded in the last 18 months.

The fact that such a thing could happen once raises hopes in the breast that it might happen again — say tomorrow, in time to inspire delight in a number of would-be Sunday picnickers.

The Allies have taken 5,000 prisoners. The Canadians took 600.

The figure of prisoners taken increased since yesterday when it was stated that 1600 prisoners had been taken since the invasion started.

Berlin claimed that the Nazis have taken 1500 prisoners and destroyed 175 Allied tanks.

The Americans have established advanced Air Force headquarters in France. The establishment of the headquarters is preliminary to getting advance air bases in operation.

All Canadian formations are now engaged on the eastern sector of the invasion area, Canadian senior officers announced today.

Headquarters disclosed yesterday that the Canadians took part in Allied airborne assaults in France.

Campaign For Blood Bank

The Junior Section of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce is interesting itself in the starting of another campaign here for donors of blood for a local blood bank so that there might be a supply on hand in the event of an emergency arising.

Further arrangements will be made by the Junior Chamber.
