ACTIVITIES OF Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A.
(By DOROTHY GARBUTT)

Have you seen the commodious army truck the "Y" is using and which it laughingly calls its "car"? Built along the lines of a juggernaut it has all the delightful angles and luxury fittings of a present day tumbler. One ride in it and you don't need the guillotine. You're already dead. Getting into it is an experience. You open the door, measure the distance, take a flying leap, chin yourself and you're either in or flat on your face in the mud. Occasionally, and for no good reason, I let myself be driven home in it. And does home look good!

Three new babies this week as reported by Mrs. Hill-Tout. First there is little Penny Greenfield whose Daddy is with the Canadian army in Italy. Penny was born on April 5 and weighed seven and one-half pounds. I can't find any meaning for Penny but think it must be short for Penelope - one of the loveliest of names, which is from the Greek and means "A weaver; industrious; a good wife." On April 8 Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Webster became the proud parents of Master Gordon Stanley Webster. Gordon weighed 6 pounds 11 ounces at birth. Mrs. Webster is a Winnipeg girl and Mr. Webster is in the navy. Gordon means "A fine man" or "A strong man," while the meaning of Stanley is "Glory of the camp or state."

An Air Force baby came along on April 10 when little Iva May, weighing 7 pounds 6½ ounces was born to Mr. and Mrs. Hunter. I cannot find the name Iva but Ivy means "Friendship or Fidelity," while May is a form of Mary and means "Distressed or tearful."

Yesterday afternoon I heard rumors of a dress rehearsal for the Army Show so I popped over to the Navy Drill Hall and saw it in progress. The costumes are simply beautiful, all in the authentic Cinderella tradition, and the blending of browns and greens and golden yellows in the tavern scene is as artistic as it is professional. I'm not going to tell you much about it except that Stuart Carson's resonant voice is delightful; the villain is most villainous and Cinderella is as sweet and pretty as you could wish her. The music for the production is by Pte. Clifford Macaree, now with an army show unit in the East. Better buy your tickets early and I mean early. It's good!

MacKay felt, for much closer co-operation between the Dominion and the province with respect to Indian work, especially in the fields of education and health, than existed today. Indians within or in close proximity to the boundaries of organized municipalities should have extended to them the educational and health services available to whites.

Major MacKay estimated the present Indian population of British Columbia at 25,000 with eighteen agencies, the smallest being Nicola with population of 435 and Skeena River the largest with 2,341. There were 1540 reserves in the province comprising a total area of 775,000 acres.

Indian education had its genesis in the missionary activities of the various churches and the church continued to occupy a very important part in the education of Indian children. Fifty-six per cent of the Indian population of British Columbia was Roman Catholic and forty-four per cent Protestant.

Major MacKay revealed a very definite trend away from the residential school and toward the day school in the education of the Indians and in this the speaker saw a very distinct advantage in bringing the influence of the school upon the home and the heart of family life. The whole Indian problem was essentially an educational one, Major MacKay asserted. There was no doubt of the inherent ability, mental and otherwise, of the Indian people. All Indian schools in British Columbia were entirely supported and maintained by the government of Canada. The aim of the department was to continue to improve the educational system of the natives.

As obstacles in the way of the proper development of the Indians Major MacKay listed a tendency to ostracism, influence of the worst class of whites and the greatest of all the supply of liquor which caused poverty, tragedy and debauchery. "It should be considered no trivial offence to supply liquor to Indians and every magistrate should assume it his duty to hand out the severest possible penalties to those who do so."

METHODS OF MEETING NEEDS

In order to meet the ever-growing needs of the Indian people, efforts should be made in the following directions as soon as conditions permitted:

- 1—Extension of the health services, especially in the north and more remote sections of the interior through the employment of additional doctors and nurses.
- 2—Additional hospitalization facilities.
- 3—Employment of social service workers.
- 4—Construction of new homes and improvement to existing dwellings.
- 5—Provision of more up-to-date day schools.
- 6—Increase in field staff to organize and promote modern methods of farming.
- 7—Development of Indian community life.

Major MacKay, in opening his address, referred to the fact that he was by no means a stranger to Prince Rupert. He had been here in the early days and, in fact, had enlisted from Prince Rupert with Col. C. W. Peck, V.C., to whom he paid affectionate tribute.

President A. S. Nickerson was in the chair at the luncheon and there was a good attendance of Rotary members with a few guests in the persons of Olof Hanson, M.P., Jack McGowan and Len Harvey, the latter a Rotarian from Vancouver.

Best wishes for many happy returns of the day were extended to the treasurer, Alex McRae, on the occasion of his birthday.

On Parade... 1st (Reserve) Bn. Prince Rupert Regt. (M.G.)

"Old soldiers never die. They simply fade away." Although it is now nearly twenty-six years since the last shot was fired in the First Great War, veterans of that struggle still show that the volunteer spirit of 1914-1918 is not dead and, although it is not possible for them to take the active part they once did, they are still willing to donate much of their leisure time to the service of their country.

The foot-ball season is approaching and the Reserve Team has already had its first workout. This year they are going to make sure that all the challenge cups come home to roost.

Strength increases for the week include Seymour Dennis, Robert Simpson, Sam Currie, Roderick Smith, John McLean and Harry Hill.

Promotions: A/Sgt. Bill Shear-down to be P/2Lt.

The First (Reserve) Battalion, Prince Rupert Regiment (Machine Gun) is fortunate in having among its members many old soldiers of the present war—Men who volunteered for active service but, owing to disabilities, have had to return to civilian life. The fighting services of the British Empire are well represented in the Unit.

The following is a roll of veterans of the last war who are up at the sound of the bell and doing their stuff in the second and final round:

- J. Armstrong (Tank Corps), A. W. Allaire (Seaforths), A. W. Burnip (Royal Navy), J. Davidson (Gordons & Argylls), A. Deidal (R.C.E.), J. H. Englecke (21st Bn.), R. E. Eyolfson (223rd Bn.), E. Foster (R.C.A.M.C.), W. Goddard (1st C.M.R.), V. Houston (25 Bn.), W. R. McAfee (53rd Bty. C.F.A.), J. McGlashan (Merchant Marine), R. Munro (Argyll and Sutherlands), C. J. Norrington (Middlesex Regt.), H. A. Ponder (2nd C.M.R.), M. Pendergrast (12th Bty. C.F.A.), C. J. Toombs (Middlesex and Queens), G. Soames (102 Bn.), J. A. Teng (Seaforths), C. H. Todd (62nd Bn.), R. Vandersluys (Australian Militia and Merchant Marine), T. N. Youngs (28th Bn. and R.A.P.).

A successful dance was held by the Regiment in the Drill Hall on April 10. Norton Youngs, on whose shoulders the bulk of the work and arrangements fell, is to be congratulated on the result. Who was it remarked the punch wasn't strong enough?

It looks as if the Regiment will soon have its own pipe band in operation—that's the stuff to give the troops.
