COMEDY IS ROMANTIC

Donald O'Connor, Susanna Foster, Peggy Ryan Star in "This Is the Life"

"This is the Life," which comes Monday and Tuesday to the screen of the Capitol Theatre, is comedy romance strengthened by a warm and appealing human story. The film stars Donald O'Connor, Susanna Foster and Peggy Ryan, with Louise Allbritton almost as fully important in the story's telling.

Basic plot of "This is the Life" concerns a foolishly romantic young girl with bright prospects for a singing career who becomes infatuated with an older man, in the person of handsome Patric Knowles, and of the ingenious ends to which her small town boy friend, O'Connor, goes to restore her to himself.

The youth incidentally propels Knowles into the arm of his divorced wife portrayed with striking effect by the statuesque Miss Allbritton.

Situations are developed plausibly and the dialogue is bright giving the film excellent pace. Miss Foster's singing is of the quality which made her a sensation in the "Phantom of the Opera" recently.

A competent supporting cast includes Dorothy Peterson, Jonathan Hale, Eddie Quillan, Frank Jenks, Ray Eberle and Bobby Brooks.

Information About Pigeon Is Wanted

VANCOUVER, D ce.9 (CP)—The Western Air Command has requested that anyone knowing the route of a carrier pigeon from a missing Canso flying boat which arrived exhausted at the air base here or anything about a message the bird might have been carrying contact air force headquarters at the soonest possible moment. It was thought that the bird might have visited a pigeon loft enroute back here to obtain food and water and a message container might have been removed by someone unaware of its importance.

AID FOR TEACHERS

LUSAKA, (CP)—There is increased interest in girls' education in Northern Rhodesia, where, to supplement the work of women teachers, more than 300 helpers are employed. These are largely the wives of teachers who, after short courses, are employed part-time to teach girls.
