Varnish Division of Canadian Industries Limited has cooperated with various manufacturing groups in evolving for them suitable finishing materials. The best types of paint for ships, for industrial buildings for vehicles, for aircraft and for the exterior and interior of homes have been developed by intensive study and continual experimentation.

In this way the Paint and Varnish Division has made a contribution to the industrial and domestic development of Canada, and the familiar C-I-L trademark has become a recognized symbol of service protection throughout the land.
