Plans for a public exhibition of mat tumbling and pyramid building are being laid by the Wartime Housing Boys' Athletic Club, which met last night in Conrad Street school. Eighteen boys attended the meeting, and took part in the exercises under the instruction of B. Begg, community council-"The boys are very eager about you forget your corns. 50c at gymnastics, and it gives them a good opportunity to enjoy wholesome recreation in their spare time," Mr. Begg said. Date of the exhibition has not been set.

RICH COMEDY IN 'MORGANS CREEK'

A picture with a story that film fans will be laughing at and talking about for a long time after they have seen it at the Capitol Theatre is Paramount's "The Miracle of Morgan's Creek" Acquire a perfect pronuncia- co-starring Eddie Bracken and tion and a thorough knowledge Betty Hutton, with Diana Lynn, OR SALE - Household furni- of French grammar by a French William Demarest and Porter ture, chesterfield, bedroom professor. For further particu- Hall. It is said to be one of the most unique funny movies ever Written and directed by Preston Sturges, whose reputation for originality is second to no one's, "The Miracle of Morgan's Creek" tells the story of a small-town! girl, Betty Hutton, who, against her policeman father's orders, attends a dance given for soldiers. She talks her devoted swain, Bracken, into going to the movies alone while she goes off to dance with the local heroes in khaki. Eddie, a civilian, is a very unhappy boy because his high blood pressure has kept him out of the ser-

During a jitterbug routine, Betty's head hits a chandelier, Days, Blk. 884 Nights, Grn. 860 which accounts for the fact that Reg. Wilson when she gets home the following morning, she has a vague recollection of having been married during the night. She re-Freight, calls to her frantic kid sister, Diana Lynn, that nobody gave his name, and she wouldn't even know how to go about locating her soldier-husband.

It becomes imperative that she find him, however. Diana then A CLASSIFIED AD IN THE DAILY NEWS WILL BRING RESULTS urges her to make Eddie propose, since he's always loved her anyway. But when she finally gets him to do so, she can't go through with it; she tells Eddie, after a violent blood pressure attack, said to be the funniest thing he's ever done, comes up with some unusual ideas.

"You can't teach an old dog new tricks" but you can train your children into new and better ways of living. This is "Better Parenthood Week."
