Moorage for Fishing Fleet..

The Junior Section of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce is well justified in taking up with the federal department of fisheries the matter of providing adequate moorage facilities for the dwindling Basketball League encounter. local fishing fleet which, owing to incursions of national defence projects, are being gradually excluded from the waterfront here with consequent removal of the fleet from the port. The attention of the department of transport has also been drawn to the matter.

While we are absorbed with the war these days, it is well to remember that the fishing industry was for many a long day Prince Rupert's mainstay and it is quite possible that it may some day again be of proportionately more important than it may seem to be during present abnormal conditions.

It would be very unfortunate if we should lose our fishing fleet-and a large proportion of it has already left here-through any failure on our part to do all we can to ensure that it is kept at Prince Rupert which is still, as it was nearly thirty years ago when the railway was opened up, the most strategically located port on the coast in relation to the handling of the North Pacific fish.

Last October, it may be recalled, Hon. Ernest Bertrand, minister of fisheries, visited Prince Rupert, stating that one of the principal purposes of his visit was to check up on the situation in regard to moorage facilities for the fishing fleets which he admitted had been shoved around a good deal of late but about which he expressed confidence that something could be done to relieve the situation. The local member, Olof Hanson, has also been giving the matter a good deal of attention.

The government very likely has the matter in hand in which case we should soon hear what the plans are.

"President Roosevelt recently referred to himself as an old doctor who had been prescribing for the ills of the country."-Press report. And there are many who fear he has been prescribing soothing syrup to the labor unions in habit-forming quantities.

Tell the People Your Story . . .

The practice of reporting to the people through eral Hospital: He was been at 7 newspaper advertising columns is growing. It is both democratic and businesslike to do this. People are busy for many reasons these days. They do not seem to have the time to attend meetings or read also on Sunday, February 6, at much but the daily press. Therefore in order to reach the P.R. Hospital, at 10.30 p.m. the greatest number of citizens with the record Terry beat Freddy by twelve newspaper space is the answer. Especially is that so Junces, weighing eight pounds when the papers in most of the smaller cities dis- axactly Private and Mrs. Stewart tribute more papers than there are houses, thus ensuring delivery of the message in virtually every single ratepayer's home.

"Anybody who lived through 1943 shouldn't worry about 1944," says a paragrapher. You're too optimistic, brother. Nineteen forty-four will not only be tougher than 1943, but one day longer.

ACTIVITIES OF Y.M.C.A. AND Y.W.C.A. By DOROTHY GARBUTT

There is not quite such a heavy dance program this week but the girls have to have a rest some time. Here it is barring changes last minute postponements an all the gremlinesque misadventures that can happen to well planned programs:

Monday, (tonight)-Coast Battery Auxiliary dance. I.O.D.E. hall, Junior hostesses invited. Wednesday-Regular Y.M.C.A. dance, Empress hall.

Friday - Juke Box Couples Dance, Empress.

Saturday. - Old Time Dance.

A new week, so here's our list of new service babies. On Sunday February 6, young Master Frederick Allan Warawa was born to Gunner and Mrs. Peter Warawa. R.C.A. in the Prince Rupert Genp.m. and weighed seven pounds four ounces. Private and Mrs. Hector Stewart R.C.O.C., became are stationed in Terrace.

We welcome the ratings of the W.R.C.N.S. who have come to town the past week and hope they will be as happy in Prince Rupert as their sisters in the services, the C.W.A.C.'s and the W.D.'s. Talking of these initialed services did you hear the one about the girl who didn't enlist in any of them because she wanted to join the W.I.V.E.S.?

From your editorial it seems Re: Certificate of Title No. 27837-L hat you do not differentiate between ordinary commercial business and co-operative enterprise I thought that in my address l had made the difference quite plain. Briefly the difference is hat the motive of ordinary commercial business is profit while that of co-operative enterorise is not to make profit at the expense of others but to render service to the members at cost. We in the co-operative movement regret that people in general are not better informed about co-operation, its philosophy, methods and achievements. How can the people learn unless they are told? It is the practice of co-operatives to "educate constantly." This is done by such means as public addresses, literature in the form of books, pamphiets, leaflets and co-oper-
