Greater Love—

"Greater love hath no man than this . . ."
These words should be inscribed
on every stark white cross that marks a warrior's grave.

Yes, they died for you . . .
You were their friend
even though they never knew your name.
For you were Canada to them . . .

You were the hurrying faces they saw . . .
The girl who waved from a passing car . . .
The small boy who watched their train go by.
You were their Canada.

They did not begrudge the price they paid.
They died trusting that you would carry on . . .
Knowing that you would carry on.
You, their countryman.

Can you measure their sacrifice?
Mark it down in dollars and cents?
Judge the value of a man's life blood?

You cannot measure it.
You cannot equal it.
The utmost that you can do is pitifully small . . .

For theirs was the greatest love
known to man or God . . .
"That a man lay down his life
for his friends."
