Right Kind of Mail Great Help To Canuck Fighting Men Overseas

By HELEN BANNERMAN

OTTAWA, Aug. 4 (C)—Take it from Wing Cmdr. H. T. E. Lee, who has just returned from a visit to R.C.A.F. stations in Britain, the fat letters with return address of mother or wife or sweetheart are still the top "morale boosters" for Canadian fighting men overseas.

"I saw the boys in the briefing rooms of the bomber and fighter stations, waiting for their cue to go over Fortress Europe again, and I saw how good these letters made them feel," the Toronto man said.

One of the two R.C.A.F. members of the Dependents' Allowance Board, Wing Cmdr. Lee has visited air force stations from the Aleutians to Ceylon. And as sergeant and later lieutenant of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry in the First Great War, he knows his soldier at first hand.

"I don't think some of the people here at home even yet realize the importance of the right sort of letter going overseas."

The "right sort of letters" is a happy blend of assurance to the fighting men that he still has first place in the hearts of those he left behind, and family and neighborhood news—so long as it is not a list of minor disasters.

"In the work of the board we see so many cases where the right letter would turn the trick—in cases of estrangement or pending divorce—where there may be an English girl in the picture and nagging letters from the wife make matters worse."

The serviceman, from private to general, is lonely for the people and places he has left behind. Even the most charming bit of England is not the wheatfields of Saskatchewan nor the pines of Muskoka which he keeps in his mind's eye.

Tell him about his favorite piece of scenery, how the fish have multiplied since he left, and tell him how proud you are of him—that is Wing Cmdr. Lee's advice.

Used Car Sale Control Tighter

Stricter control of the sale of used cars by individuals became effective August 1 under an order of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. The order does not apply to dealers.

It states that anyone, other than a dealer, who advertises a used car for sale shall state the make, model, serial number, and accessories of the car, giving his name and address in the advertisement. The price may not exceed that set by the board for such a vehicle.
