MUSICAL COMEDY

Mary Martin, Franchot Tone and Dick Powell in "True To Life."

An hilarious comedy with music, "True to Life," which comes next Monday and Tuesday to the Capitol theatre here stars Mary Martin, Franchot Tone, Dick Powell and Victor Moore with Mabel Paige and William Demarest in supporting roles. It tells the story of two high-salaried radio writers, Tone and Powell, who are about to be canned because their program suffers from lack of reality. Tone, the debonair man about town, seeks new inspiration in night life, but Powell goes among the people. He winds up in a diner in Sunnyside, Long Island, where he meets Mary Martin, the counter girl.

Mary, believing him to be down on his luck, takes him home with her to her zany family which consists of Pop (Victor Moore) who works in a bakery by day and invents unpatentable things by night Mom (Mable Paige), the boss of the house; Uncle Jake (William Demarest), chronically unemployed; Twips (Beverly Hudson), the kid sister with a yen for Mary's boy friends; Clem (Raymond Roe), the young brother who wants to be a doctor but can't wait 'til he grows up.

Mary arranges for Powell to live with them until he finds a job and Dick proceeds to use the family for a true to life radio program. He sends Tone a verbatim account of the daily happendings in the family and these are immediately put on the air by a duplicate radio family.

Dick tries to keep the family from listening to their radio but, of course, the time comes when he is exposed. It is an uproarious time, as is everything preceding and everything following.
