Rain and Lack of Boxers Cancelled Sports Program

Postponements cut short the sports program in Prince Rupert last night, but the scheduled events will take place in the near future.

A boxing card was slated for Acropolis Hill but not enough boxers could be obtained for the night and the bouts are planned for Sept. 8.

Also called off because of rain was the third game of the Area Women's Softball League final between the Allies and Air Force W.D.'s.

It is expected the series will be resumed Monday night at Seal Cove.

PRICE OF FREEDOM—

Allied Occupation of Normandy Far Greater Than That of Nazis

By ALAN RANDAL

SOMEWHERE IN NORMANDY, France, Aug. 25.—The French people may have thought they were occupied when the Germans held the Norman coastline but now that the Allied armies with their vast numbers and supplies have moved in the Normans really know what occupation is.

There probably never have been so many men in the area the Allied forces hold. Every field, no matter how tiny, has its quota of helmeted Allied soldiers and its quota of Allied supplies.

The whole area is like a dusty, gigantic chain store with each pasture a counter. The fields are filled with everything imaginable. One field will be filled with boxes of rations piled five and six feet high. The next, behind its hedges, holds millions of rounds of carbine ammunition; the next has countless drums of gasoline and the next may be assembly point for huge

Uncertain Glory Opens Monday at Capitol Theatre

A French criminal, and the Surete inspector who holds him prisoner, pit their combined wits against their common Nazi enemy in Warner Bros. film, "Uncertain Glory," which opens Monday for three days, starring Errol Flynn and Paul Lukas.

As in their recent "Passage To Marseille," the Warner Bros. here again tackle the absorbing theme of man's courage and dignity which is sometimes to be found in most incongruous surroundings, this time in a strange tale about two men, psychologically at pole's ends, who find themselves bound together in an issue far bigger than either of them.

Errol Flynn, last seen as a gallant Royal Canadian Mountie in "Northern Pursuit," sheds the garb of more obvious heroics and in "Uncertain Glory" plays the part of Jean Picard, an unregenerate criminal who almost loses his only chance to redeem himself as a human being. Paul Lukas, Academy Award winner for his outstanding performance in "Watch On The Rhine," plays Pythias to Mr. Flynn's Damon, as Inspector Bonet of the French Surete, the pursuer who at last bags his quarry only to admit to an empty victory.

Others who play top roles in "Uncertain Glory" are Lucie Watson, remembered for her sterling performance as the mother in "Watch On The Rhine," who again plays a mother, though of a different hue. This time Miss Watson is a simple Frenchwoman, devoted to her country and contemptuous of the Nazi conquerors. Warner Bros. also chose this film in which to introduce a new screen personality, lovely young Jean Sullivan, who is seen in the role of Marianne, an innocent little peasant girl who falls in love with Picard and shows him the way to certain glory.

some of it will in all probability be permanent after the war.

A farmer told the commander of an engineering unit: "The Germans came and took away all my livestock. Now you come, and you say you are the liberators. And now look at my farm."

We looked at it. From the farm standpoint there wasn't much left. He had his house. And a little garden in front and a little garden behind and that was all. The rest of it was all built into an airport because it was the best ground available.

Ray Smith, Local U.S. Welterweight Out to Topple Alaskan Champion

By CHARLES CARNEY

Ray Smith, smart San Francisco welterweight, now stationed here, and three other leading boxers from Acropolis Hill will take part in a boxing show at Ketchikan Sept. 1.

Pete Wambach, of the megaphone voice, who did such an outstanding job of announcing fights here recently, has been invited to introduce the matches in the Alaska city.

Smith is slated to meet Billy McCann, of Seattle, Alaskan champion, in the main bout. This match will be broadcast over radio station KTKN, so Smith's followers in Prince Rupert may follow their boys' work.

The other fighters making the trip are: Urban Hernandez, Abram Lider, and Welmond Wallace.

Billy McCann's 10 years of boxing activity have gained him an enviable reputation in all main West Coast cities.

In Juneau on Labor Day, 1940, McCann slugged the then champ, Sammy Nelson, so viciously that the latter's bridge-work was shattered and he was
