Farmers In War Effort

Have Big Job to Build up Bread Basket—Rains Prevent Drought

WINNIPEG, June 29 (CP) — As the Allied armies pound the enemy on European soil Canada's farmers, faced with manpower problems, struggle determinedly today to build up the bread-basket needed for European countries when peace comes.

Timely rains snatched many areas of western Canada's grain belt from the threshold of drought, turning spotty pastures into havens for livestock early in June. By mid-June crop growing conditions in all but isolated areas were ideal, crop surveys showed. Frequent showers, however, will be needed.

Meanwhile transportation and grain officials prepared a program for movement of more than 1,200 carloads of grain daily to lakehead terminals for immediate dispatch to eastern Canada, the United States and overseas.

The Canadian Wheat Board, for the first time since wartime conditions made restrictions necessary, lifted the delivery quota on wheat. A year ago it was 14 bushels per authorized acre.

At last night's session the coroner's jury viewed the body of the child, which was formally identified by Victor Morrison, a friend of the family.

The jury, directed by Deputy Coroner Bruce Stevens, consists of the following: Wilbur Sheardown (foreman), Stuart Johnson, Dennis Jones, Metro Makow, Clifford Ham and Thomas Lunn.

Grain authorities placed Canadian consumption since last August at almost double pre-war needs. Feed requirements were placed at almost 100,000,000 bushels, seed 22,000,000, domestic requirements 50,000,000 and wheat used in making alcohol 6,000,000.

Besides exports to the United States, the United Kingdom, Eire, Portugal, Russia, Switzerland and the West Indies were buyers on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. Other wheat, as a gift from Canada, went to Greece.

All grain futures, except rye, hung at their ceiling levels since the crop year began 11 months ago—wheat at $1.25; oats 51½ and barley 64¢. Rye fluctuated widely, reaching $1.35 a bushel in May and reacting to favorable crop conditions in Canada's spring wheat areas and the United States winter wheat crop. By mid-June rye dipped to $1.09 but was still 20 cents higher than a year ago.

Wheat acreage, cut drastically during the war years as efforts were made to increase coarse grains for feed, jumped more than 3,000,000 acres this year to approximately 20,600,000 acres. Coarse grain acreages were about the same.

"Frequency modulated radio is a development that can be applied to all commercial air lines after the war," Mr. Stevens said. "Result of this installation will determine postwar installations."

The system is point-to-point only and cannot be picked up by other radios. Voices over the system are "clear as a bell" and storms or other radio nuisances cannot interfere.
