SOMETHING NEW

Most Canadians are too conservative in the matter of new vegetables, professional gardners point out. For generations they have been content to grow a very limited variety—beans, carrots, peas, lettuce and potatoes covering the complete range in too many gardens.

This is a great mistake as scores of vegetables can be grown to perfection anywhere in Canada and in addition there are usually several different varieties of each. In recent decades there has been some improvement but the average garden is still limited.

In addition to the standard kinds noted above, there are many others that could be included such as spinach, swiss chard, pappers, turnips, parsnips, onions, broad beans, kohl rabi, red caggabe, broccoli, endive, cress, parsley, head lettuce, brussels sprouts, celery, Chinese cabbage, etc.

Another point too often overlooked is the introduction of improved varieties. Some of the old standbys of ten years ago are completely overshadowed by earlier, smoother or hardier sorts. By choosing carefully from a good Canadian seed catalogue one can create a vegetable garden that will not only have much more variety than was possible a generation ago, but one that will yield higher quality and over a much longer period.

Cultivate It First

Thorough, preliminary cultivation is essential in both flower and vegetable growing. Where this is not done the gardener will be on his knees half the summer fighting twitch and other weeds that should have been thoroughly eradicated in the first place.

Where at all possible the experts advise fall digging of the land to the gardened. Then it should be cultivated thoroughly again in the spring. The objective is to have the soil worked up fine and free of weeds, especially twitch, thistle and other perennial weeds, before the seeds are planted. Rather than rush radish, carrots and peas at the first opportunity into unprepared soil, old-timers advise waiting for another week if necessary, and in the meantime cultivating thoroughly and deeply. This extra work before the rows are planted will repay itself many times over in the hoeing and weeding it saves later.

Showy Flowers

An amazing showing can be made with a few annual flowers. Cosmos, giant marigolds, zinnias, petunias, portulaca, nicotine, calendula, alyssum, nasturtiums, etc., are easily grown almost anywhere in Canada. Some of the larger flowers can actually be used in the place of shrubs. Seeds should be started early and in finely prepared soil. Plants are transplanted to permanent quarters when they are well established with several sets of leaves. Ready started bedding plants can be bought. For husky growth, cosmos, gladiolus, dahlias, giant marigolds and zinnias should have about two feet each way—petunias need about a foot apart.

Seed Supply

Seed supplies are not going to be more plentiful this spring. Dealers are confident that they can meet demands if orders are placed early and some leeway is allowed in varieties.

to set themselves up in business in any country, or to represent in Ontario an industry of some other country. It will also supply data to any firm looking for expansion in Ontario, or to any Ontario organization probing the overseas trade outlook.

"We don't try to influence the final judgment of the interested parties," said Col. Lyle, who was released from the Canadian Army in Holland to take his new post. Col. Lyle spent six weeks in Toronto setting up a counterpart office under H. McLean Burns before returning to London after discharge.

"Our service is in close collaboration with exisiting associations throughout Canada, such as the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, and with the Federation of British Industries in Britain."

The plan is to obtain a "fair share" of trade for Ontario producers to interest British and other firms in establishing branch plants or agencies in the province; and to encourage reciprocal arrangements between industries for the exchange of patents and designs, thereby creating employment for discharged servicemen and war workers released from their jobs.

City Hall Closed Friday to Tuesday

City Hall staff will enjoy a long Easter week-end. City Clerk H. D. Thain announced today that the City Hall will close Thursday night and reopen Tuesday morning, remaining closed Saturday morning. The council meeting, which ordinarily would have fallen on Monday night, will be held Tuesday night.

City merchants report that they will close for their regular half day on Thursday, remaining closed on Good Friday, but will be open on Saturday and Easter Monday.

MANCHESTER, Eng. (CP)—Didsbury Methodist Theological College has been sold for £85,000 ($382,000) and will be converted into a post-war training centre for school teachers.

BRITISH COLUMBIA BREEDS Valour

THIRD in population, Canada's Pacific province ranks first by a wide margin in the number of her heroic sons to win the highest award of the British Commonwealth—the Victoria Cross.

Of the eight Canadians whose exceptional courage and devotion to duty during the present war brought the supreme recognition . . . five were British Columbians!

August 19th, 1942: Lt.-Col. Charles Cecil Ingersoll Merritt of Vancouver, though twice wounded, remained on a Dieppe beach under heavy fire covering the withdrawal of his unit. He was taken prisoner.

November 8th, 1942: Capt. Frederick Thornton Peters, R.N., of Nelson, led the cutters H.M.S. Walney and Harland in a suicidal action against the French harbour at Oran, Algeria. He died in an air crash shortly afterwards.

February 2nd, 1944: Major Charles Ferguson Hoey, M.C., of Duncan, despite serious wounds, single-handedly killed every occupant of a Japanese hill position in Burma. His wounds brought his death fifteen days later.

May 24th, 1944: Major John Keefer Mahony of New Westminster, led his company across the unbridged Melfa River in Italy against concentrated fire, shattered enemy attacks, and though outnumbered and outgunned, two to one, inspired his men to fighting fury and held the crossing until reinforced. Though wounded three times in the action, Mahony later returned home to receive the acclaim of the Nation.

October 21st, 1944: Private Ernest A. (Smokey) Smith, of New Westminster, first Canadian private to receive the V.C. in this war, earned immortal honour at the Savio River in Italy for "audacity to the point of contempt" when, single-handed, he put to route ten Germans in two attacking tanks, killing four and wounding six.

BEHIND EVERY HEADLINE

When the story of Canada's war effort can be told in detail, our people will learn with pride of the important part many Canadian industrial plants have played. The management and men of U.D.L. devote all their time and all the facilities of their Vancouver and Grimsby plants to meeting every demand of the armed forces for high-test alcohol for making smokeless powder and other vitally needed munitions, and the demand grows greater with the increasing tempo of the war today.
