APPEALS FOR INCREASE IN MOOSE ORDER

Confidence that the present membership of the Prince Rupert lodge, Loyal Order of Moose, standing now at about 100, could be doubled if an appeal were put out was expressed by Charles F. Hamilton, lodge membership organizer of Vancouver, to an informal meeting of lodge members and guests in Reid's Cafe last night.

"The vast social program among our 700,000 international members make it imperative that we have a constant increase in new young members. Our order is one that must continually progress. It cannot stand still," Mr. Hamilton said.

He outlined the four prime projects of the order, Mooseheart, a fine large residential school for children of deceased Moose members; Mooschaven, a retirement home for elderly members; and the sick benefit and funeral benefit programs.

In an introductory speech, Lodge Governor Gillis Royer, who acted as chairman, said that he hoped to see the day when the lodge increased again to its former strength of 500 to 600 active members in Prince Rupert. He said that plans were under way to obtain a building to house the lodge here.

TOPPERS OUT

LONDON — Boys of Westminster School are not wearing the top hats and tall coats long familiar to Londoners. Since the school returned to Westminster after evacuation to Herefordshire, school authorities have decided in favor of grey flannel suits.

Smiles'n Chuckles

He: "Golf is easy, girlie. All you do is smack the pill and then walk."
She: "How interesting. Just like some auto rides I've been on."

"So you've been to college, eh?"
"Yeah."
"How high can you count?"
"One, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight, nine, ten, jack, queen, king."

The clerk of the draft board was inquiring of the hill billy how many children he had.
"Four," was the answer, "and by gosh, that's all I'm going to have."

"Why?" asked the draft clerk.
"I just read in this here almanac that every fifth child born is a Chinaman."

She: "I'm Dorinda, the oriental dancer."
He: "Shake."

A colored preacher was hearing the confession of a young man. In the middle of it he stopped the young sinner, saying: "Wait a minute young man, wait a minute! You ain't confessin'—you's braggin'."

Man: "I want a loaf of Mum-sie's bread, a package of Krunchies, some Goody Sonny Spread, Ole Mammy's Lasses, Orange Pully, a pound of Aunt Annie's Sugar Candy, Bitsey Bite size."

Clerk: "Sorry, no Krunchies. How about Krinkly Krisps, Oatsie-? Toasties, Maky-Wheaties, Ricelets or Eatum-Wheetum?"

Man: "The Wheetums, then."
Clerk: "Anything else? Tootsie Tattery Chips, Cheesie Weesies, Gingie Bits, Itseq Cakes, Sweetie Toofums, or Drama's Doughnuts?"

Man: (toddling toward meat department): "Tan't det anything else. Dot to det some meat."

"So your new job makes you independent?"
"Absolutely. I get here any time I want before eight, and leave just when I please after five."

"I can't understand why you scratched that wonderful man off your list. Gee, think of those smiling Irish eyes, that Grecian nose, that Viking physique."
"Yeah, but don't forget those Roman hands."

The nursemaid tried to discourage her employers' 8-month old son from sucking his thumb.
"Don't suck your little thumbs like that," she cooed, "you may need it some day to get a lift."

Farmer: "If things get too bad we can eat our forest preserves."
City Boy: "You've got nothing on us! We can eat our traffic jams."

Diner: "Is this ice cream pure?"
Waiter: "As pure as the girl of your dreams."
Diner: "Give me a plate of jello."

Ladies with this kind of backs (), Should please refrain from wearing slacks.

"I'd like some alligator shoes."
"Surely, ma'am. What size does your alligator wear?"

On the Paths of Peace

FROM Normandy to Berlin these feet have marched—from Sicily to the Po Valley. Through mud and dust, snow and blood, to Victory. Now they are set on the paths of peace . . . On the road to the future greatness of Canada.

Let us stop for a moment and take stock of what that future can hold for Canada. We have vast riches in the natural products of our country. We have millions of fertile acres—a wealth of minerals—unsurpassed resources—the mainspring of the world of to-morrow.

All these are ours, plus a will to fight that has raised us to the status of a greater nation in the short space of six years.

These things are not dreams. They are the realities upon which greatness is built. We can attain that greatness by keeping in step with the marching feet that carried us to victory.

When we sign our names to the application for a full year's purchase of 9th Victory Loan Bonds we are helping to make certain that the sacrifices of the past six years have not been in vain . . . We are buying our share in The Canada of To-morrow.
