Old Favourites Yield To New Methods of Cooking

One wonders if a homemaker exists who doesn't become excited over new ideas and secrets in cooking. Most groups of women dearly love to exchange their findings on wartime cooking and hear how to "make do."

The home economists are continually experimenting with foods, developing new ways of preparing and serving them.

The Jenny Cake is a 1945 version of the old-fashioned Johnny Cake. Moreover, the mixture is equally good baked as muffins.

Surprises Due in Buying Easter Suits

NEW YORK, March 20.—Be prepared for surprises when you go to pick out your Easter suit. You'll find the classic tulleur has developed a lot of new tricks.

You'll see bolero suits in all versions, from fitted waist-length jackets of the bellhop variety to even shorter models which show a strip of blouse between jacket and skirt.

You'll see suits that have gone utterly, irrevocably, feminine, with soft tailoring, fanciful closings, unexpected color combinations.

You'll be amazed at the new wrinkles in lapels, which sometimes disappear altogether, sometimes jut out like wings, coil like cornucopias or multiply in petal-like formations.

Checks are big news this Spring, and so is navy blue, as always. Grey flannel is one of the season's high notes, and then there are the tri-color suits, with jacket one color, skirt another and blouse a third tone.

Blouses still go for the high, wrapped neckline, and jackets as a rule have high closings. It's a suit Spring, but this year you can be as feminine as you please, and still be suited.

Timely Tips

When Memory Fails... a shopping list helps. It's bound to be a nuisance, and these days perhaps it is a downright tragedy to get home with a wrong-sized garment.

Shattered and Scattered... Even a new broom would not sweep up all the fine splinters of glass that sometimes result from a dish-washing accident.

For Safer Toddling... When little leather soles on toddlers' shoes are worn smooth and shiny, a good rubbing with sandpaper will prevent them from being a hazard to active first-stoppers.

DUTCH ORPHAN IN ENGLAND

Airman Adopts Two-Year-Old Child Whose Parents Helped Him Escape

LONDON, March 20.—The little Dutch girl was only two years old and her only introduction to England was a piece of paper in her hand on which was scrawled the name and address of FO. Owen Pratt.

FO. Pratt was a navigator in a bomber shot down last autumn over Holland. He bailed out, was injured, but managed to elude the Germans.

A Dutchman and his wife took him into their home, gave him food and shelter and hid him from the searching Gestapo.

Then came the day when, after careful preparation by his hosts through the Dutch underground, FO. Pratt left his hide-out and made a secret journey to England.

But when word came that a little girl with his name and address had come to England under a scheme which is bringing Netherlands children for rehabilitation holidays, he left hospital and hurried to London.

He found her to be the baby he had played with while hiding from the Gestapo. He also found that her parents had been shot by the Nazis for harboring him.

The note the child brought ensured her future—FO. Pratt has adopted her and is sending her to his wife, also a Dutch girl, now in New Zealand.
