'Y' DOINGS
By MARGARET WOODWARD

Tonight in the auditorium all Service personnel and friends are welcome at the first of the weekly Monday night dances. Music will be supplied by Frank Dutton's orchestra with George Korbet doing the vocals.

On Tuesday evening the first of our weekly cribbage parties will be held in the upstairs writing room. This will be handled by Johnnie Tarbet who is well-known to all the Y.

Under the direction of Guy Noakes an excellent program was presented at the Band Concert on Sunday evening. Particularly well received by the large audience was Musical Switch, conducted by the Guest Conductor, A. E. Tutte, Salvation Army supervisor stationed at the American Seamen's Club. Ralph Taylor, Maurice MacKay and Guy Noakes were featured in a clever arrangement of Trumpets Three. Announcements were by Bob Willett of CFPR.

Saturday evening the Common Lounge became the scene of an impromptu evening of song when Cliff MacGorman of the Soo Suds began to play for the enjoyment of all. A large crowd soon gathered and a very pleasant hour was spent. Cliff is very versatile and plays entirely by ear. It is hoped that he will be a frequent visitor at the "Y" when the boys and girls gather round the piano in the Lounge.

In the "Y" Gymnasium

Tonight in the Gym the Navy and Soo Suds battle it out in the basketball playoff series. Soo Suds are in the lead by a 30-27 victory over Navy last Thursday and a stiff game is anticipated with both teams determined to be the victorious combination. Senior officers of both services will be present to witness this important match. Bands will be in attendance and at half time a display of parallel bar gymnastics will be presented. The last half of the game will be broadcast coming on the air at 7:30 p.m.

Notices

NEW EATING PLACE OPEN

Reid's Cafe Starts in Attractive Setting of Old Prince Rupert Club

Prince Rupert's latest new eating place—Reid's Cafe in its new location, the commanding old Prince Rupert Club building on second Ave.—opened yesterday after the past few weeks of preparation by Mine Host Frank Browne. The premises spic and span and the food up to a high standard established by Mr. Brown in his former location, the new restaurant is home-like and attractive and, as it becomes better known, should prove highly popular for it is of quite distinctive character, planned to cater to a discriminating clientele.

The main dining room is located in what was the billiard room in the old club. There are tables for couples, for foursomes and for family groups with seating capacity up to a maximum of about 100 persons. Club and other luncheon and dinner appointments will be catered to upstairs in what was formerly the main club sitting room with a fine harbor view. Already many bookings have been made.

A tea room and snack bar is also to be established by Mr. Browne.

WARDROBES TO SUIT PURSES

Girls at Ottawa Barracks Get Pre-Discharge Peep at Civilian Duds

OTTAWA, March 5 (CP)—A fashion show designed to acquaint girls of the R.C.A.F., Women's Division, with smart civilian clothing available to them on discharge has been put on for airwomen at Princess Alice barracks here.

Three wardrobes, priced at $100, $200 and $300 were shown by an Ottawa department store and introduced by T. H. Price of the Ottawa Better Business Bureau who warned the girls against petty racketeers and urged them to adopt the slogan: "Before you invest, investigate."

The $100 wardrobe, of most importance to clothes-minded W. D.'s, was planned around a black and white checked suit worn with a tailored white blouse. A black chesterfield coat and a black felt topper with a fluffy veil which could be worn with a dark green basic dress or the soft green peplum dress formed the main part of the wardrobe which also included washable gloves, spectator pumps, a black fabric bag and lingerie.

The more generous $200 wardrobe gave more thought to color and variety, while the $300 one, probably too highly priced for many of the girls, was really complete.

Main feature of it was a three-piece tailored suit of brown pinstripe tweed worn with a tailored brown felt hat, white blouse and brown calf purse, gloves and pumps.

The large budget allowed for a "good little black dress" with white frou-frou trim, a veiled black straw sailor, a two-piece limelight green print dress with a green corded silk purse, a cocoa brown print dress, a simple lime green cashmere wool dress and a tailored, all-season coat with a removable lining.

YOUTH WELFARE PLAN

BELIZE, Honduras, (CP) — The British Honduras Social Council is to consider a plan for youth welfare and the co-operation of the whole community is sought. There is to be a series of talks on the subject over the local broadcasting system.
