

What Is the Reason? . . .

The Prince Rupert Recreational Council's supervised physical training and recreational activities, upon which so much time and effort have been expended with gratifying results indeed in the healthy interest that has been aroused and the active participation of the young people and some who are not so young, have been put in the position of having nowhere to go through action of the military authorities in banning the Y.M.C.A. War Services premises to civilian use.

What not only the people who have been deprived of a venue for their activities but the public generally will be interested to know is why this action should have been taken when it is very well known that the Y.M.C.A. premises are being given a minimum of use now owing to the clearing out of the military forces and can be very well shared with the public. If the building were in full use by the armed forces as it once was there could be no exception to banning the civilian population but such is far from being the case now.

The Prince Rupert Recreation Council is carrying on a most important public morale activity, particularly as far as the young people are concerned, and it is not satisfactory that the work should be interfered with for no apparent good reason by a whim of the military authorities which appears to have no explainable justification.

commodation that may be available in the meantime pending a clearing up of the Y.M.C.A. building situation. The main thing is that the good work now started should not be interfered with through lack of a meeting place when so many possibilities are apparent.

Radio Here Menaced . . .

The Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce has been advised in a report from its radio committee that the local radio station is in imminent danger of falling into the hands of unknown commercial interests with all the disadvantages and nuisances which that would imply. Any move which might to be made to sell out to private interests for conversion into a raucous advertising medium the station which the people of Prince Rupert had been expecting the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation to develop into a vital centre of transmission of fine programs for city and district would certainly meet with strenuous objection of the listening public in this part of the province.
