Politics and Younger People

Two successive campaigns have demonstrated marked lack of interest on the part of the younger men, and the younger women too, for that matter, in political questions. Possibly it is this very lack of active interest that is responsible for the low ebb to which the organizations and enthusiasm of the older parties have fallen and which has become so evident in these political campaigns.

It is something to be regretted that, if the older people of the parties have neither the ability or

The older people may have no future to look forward and may, therefore, be satisfied to let things slide for a few years longer after which it will not matter anyway as far as they are concerned. During the past several years the Security Intelligence Office of the Combined Services repeatedly stressed the fact that persons working as enemy agents were caught relaying important information to the enemy across the Pacific and elsewhre.

We weren't fooling when we published, during this period, a series of announcements under the title "Let's Cut the Cackle," warning the public to beware of spreading any items of secret information that came into their posses-

On behalf of the Security Intelligence Office we take this opportunity to thank all those citizens who so sensibly and patriotically responded.
