War's End Sees British Crowds Turn to Sports

Horse, Dog and Speedway Racing Big Attractions But Transport Facilities Taxed to Limit

> By ALLAN NICKLESON Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, July 19 (CP) — The greatest sports boom in Britain's history is spiralling towards its dizziest-ever peak. Every sport is flourishing as the nation, after five years of meagre entertainment rations, returns with record enthusiasm to whatever promoters have to offer. Such attractions as horse, dog and speedway racing are catering to crowds larger than one of the largest crowds in its pre-war. Generally the boom has history-about 30,000-and recaught promoters off balance in turn of the basic gasoline ration that it has exceeded widest ex- for private automobiles was a pectations. The end of the war in Europe horses could enter the parade touched off a surge that produced on the last week-end in June the greatest sports cavalcade in the first race were still waiting nearly six years—with more record-breaking periods to come Mammoth crowds paid out millions of dollars in admission fees and wagering.

Around London, for instance, more than 60,000 jammed White City Stadium to watch the favored Ballyhennessy Seal win the Victory Greyhound Derby. More than 1,000,000 bets representing nearly $500,000 were placed on the totalizators during the onenight meet and untold thousands wagered thousands of dollars with track bookmakers.
