DISEASES OF SANITATION

Cause Far More Deaths Than Communicable Ailments-Public Health Service Benefits

"More children die in Canada from the diseases of faulty sanitation-dysentry and the socalled stomach flu—than from all the communicable diseases multiplied by 10," Dr. J. M. Hershey, director of the Nanaimo public health unit, assistant provincial health director and himself a Gyro, told the Prince yesterday. The diseases due to tion. faulty sanitation were of national importance, he said.

Dr. Hershey described health service work among children, the importance of which he emphasized. This work commenced in the pre-natal stage and was continued through the life of the child both before and during school.

Nutrition came in for discussion by the speaker who observed that, during the first year of a child's life, the tendency was to pay particular attention to the feeding, only to shove the child into the world after the first year as far as nutrition was concerned and permit it to sit at the table and eat like everyone else which was not right.

What Public Health

Has Done in Rupert Dr. Hershey recalled a visit he Prince Rupert. had made here on public health was not generally recognized. He concluded by emphasizing the necessity of the public health being maintained constantly in the interests of the health of the community and the consolidation of the benefits already achieved. President (Dr.) J. J. Gibson was in the chair. C. P. Bussinger of Telkwa was a guest and Don Forward, a former member, was welcomed back on his return from Vancouver. Dr. R. G. Large made a brief report to the club on new developments in regard to the consummation of the civic centre project here now that the war
