The thoughtfulness which haracterized the observance of V-E Day in most Pacific Coast 'cities held sway to a large extent in Prince Rupert and, except for a few minor outbursts by merrymakers Tuesday night, everything was calm.

One citizen in conversation with a reporter seemed to strike the keynote of reaction here when he said: "In spite of the fact that we have been concentrated on the European war, watchful eye on the war across the Pacific. The end of Hitler's war means the real start of the Jap war and that will be pretty close to home for us."
