odds! What stilled the waters of the English Channel at Dunkirk? How nearly did Britain escape invasion! How dreadful had Moscow been taken! How nearly was Stalingrad made the cross for all the world, delaying victory by years.

To us these notes are sounded as the guns of Europe are stilled: First, unbounded joy for victory over the darkest menace to freedom and decent life; Second, the note of pride as we remember with sorrow the unreturning; Third, from them we must take up the torch, be it ours to hold it high that the sacrifice of our honored Dead be not in vain.

Let us remember and be grateful. Acknowledge and thank God for peace—Peace in Europe, soon—we pray God—to all mankind."

The speaker concluded with a quotation from Lincoln's address at Gettysburg: "We have come to dedicate a part of this field as a final resting place of those here who gave their lives that this nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this.

"It is for us living rather to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us here to be dedicated to the great task remaining before us that from these honored Dead we take increased devotion to that cause to which they gave their last full measure of devotion; that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain—that the nation under God shall have a new life of freedom and that government of the people, by the people, for the people shall not perish from the earth."

Following the address, the graves were decorated with Union Jacks and poppies and a spray of flowers placed at the central flagstaff. The ceremony ended with "God Save The King."

HAZELTON GIRLS TEAM MIGHTY BALL SWATTERS

HAZELTON, June 18 (Special)—Winners of every game but two in a long series of softball games during the spring season, Hazelton native girls' Maple Leaf softball team wound up the season last week by defeating a Hazelton team of white girls by a score of 20 to 14.

They are proud of the fact that the only games they lost were to a boys' team, and they gave a good account of themselves in those games, too. They were defeated by the Kispiox Boy Scouts team by a score of 20-12 at Kispiox and again by the same team at Hazelton by a score of 12-7, but they had sufficient other victories to compensate.

They defeated girls' teams at Kitwanga, Hazelton and Moricetown and so great was the glory of one of their victories that a small rivulet near Moricetown softball field was named Maple Leaf Spring to immortalize their memory.

Members of the team are Norma Robinson, Gloria Smart Margaret Sterret, Tillie Wright Maggie Wright, Alice Muldoe Fannie Smith, Mercy Wright Dolores Clifford and Irene Patsey.

Sport Chat

A bespectacled figure in oversize battledress tossed money and champaign around like water at Windsor races, won $18,000 on the afternoon and ended up by tossing empty bottles on to the grandstand roof in an exhibition of grenade tossing." This was Gordon Roll wealthy patron of the British turf, and it was his first race meet since he was captured by the Germans in France more than five years ago. He is the fellow who helped kill time behind barbed wire by studying the form of horses running in England and placing wagers with London bookmakers by means of prisoner-of-war letter cards.

Roll arrived at the races in company with a big party of Australian soldiers who had been his companions in prison camp. A spectacular plunger, he lost early, then plunked down a handful of notes on an odds-on favorite and pocketed $9,000. "That's the way to do it," he told anyone within earshot. "Put the money down on these good things and you pick it up." He lost $3,650 on the next race, shouted "the Germans couldn't get me down and the bookmakers won't either," and placed the same amount on the following event. He won, danced across the paddock and crashed down on the scales in the weighing room.

Gordon had planned a big party for the night of the race meet but, at nine p.m. he was sound asleep in his hotel and the celebrations were postponed. Incidentally Gordon backed Sir Eric Olson's Dante which on Saturday won the Derby. He put $18,000 right on the nose.
