CHRISTMAS HERE WILL BE TRULY A "HOME DAY"

Christmas this year will be truly a "home day" in Prince Rupert.

This first peacetime Christmas after six years of war will see scores of Prince Rupert's sons and daughters at their homes for the first time in long periods. For some it will be as long as five years. For others, shorter periods.

But for all, this year the Christmas spirit will be fortified by the feeling of accomplishment. In finishing the fight for victory they have done a good job well. During the last several weeks young men in uniform, or recently discharged from the services, have been arriving in the city on boats and trains. Their welcome will find its real fulfillment in Christmas at home.

However, other agencies too, have been laying plans for entertaining service personnel, both discharged and on active service. Among them are the Y.M.C.A. War Services, the Canadian Legion, Knights of Columbus War Services.

At the Y.M.C.A. this evening (Christmas Eve) the Khatada Girls' Club is sponsoring a tea dance from 6 o'clock to 9 o'clock for servicemen, ex-servicemen and their wives and lady friends. Music will be by Andy McNaughton at the piano. There will be refreshments.

On Christmas Day there will be two movies at the "Y", one at 2:30 and the second at 7:30. Between 4 o'clock and 7 o'clock Christmas "goodies" will be served free to servicemen in uniform at the canteen.

Boxing Day at the "Y" will be featured by a dance in the evening.

ed with the United States fleet in the Pacific, culminating with the shelling by warships and bombing by carrier-borne planes of targets in the Tokyo area in July.

Russia declared war on Japan August 8, two days after the first atomic bomb was dropped on Hiroshima, and six days later Japan surrendered unconditionally.

But the war left turmoil in its wake in many lands.

British forces entered Java in September to disarm the Japanese garrison and liberate Allied prisoners and internees. Armed Indonesian nationalists declared their independence of the Dutch and forcibly resisted British troops on the grounds they were restoring Dutch authority.

Fighting continued while British commanders sought to bring the Dutch and Indonesians together to settle their differences. A similar situation developed in Indo-China where Chinese and British forces sought to restore order.

Greece was torn by civil war in January and British forces there sided with rightest government in quelling the insurrection by the left-wing national liberation front.

Chinese central government forces and Chinese Communists clashed as the Japanese threat was removed and the country was in the grip of undeclared civil war, as the year ended.

India and Palestine Still Irksome

In India the Nationalists demanded immediate independence and Britain's Labor government promised independence once the Indians themselves could agree on a constitution. There were riots in Palestine over the Jewish problem and Britain and the United States set up a joint committee charged with seeking a solution for the problem of Europe's Jews and of the future of Palestine.

The Big Three conferred twice during the year—at Yalta in February and at Potsdam in July.

At Yalta Prime Minister Churchill, President Roosevelt and Premier Stalin agreed on a four-power occupation of Germany when she was defeated and resolved to disarm all German forces, break up her general staff and eliminate or control German industry that could be used for war purposes.

Death of Roosevelt Shocked World

President Roosevelt died April 12 and Vice-President Harry Truman, who succeeded the man who had just begun his fourth term in office, went to Potsdam for the United States. A general election in Britain in which the Churchill government was overthrown caused the replacement of Mr. Churchill by Clement Attlee, the new prime minister, midway through the Potsdam talks.

At Potsdam agreement was reached on the division of German assets for reparations. Poland was given the part of Germany east of the Oder and Neisse rivers. East Prussia was divided between Russia and Poland, with Russia getting Königsberg.

But the end of the war saw a deterioration in the international harmony that held the great powers together. A meeting of the foreign ministers of Britain, the United States, Russia, France and China, called in September to consider post-war problems, broke up in failure to reach agreement on any major issue.

Retribution overtook two Axis leaders in the dying days of the war. Mussolini was executed by Italian patriots near Milan on April 29, along with his mistress, Clara Petacci. Though positive proof was lacking, there was every indication that Hitler and his mistress, Eva Braun, committed suicide in the ruins of the Berlin chancellery just before the city fell to the Russians.

Meanwhile the Allies set an international tribunal at Nuernberg, Germany, to try notorious collaborators in Germany, Pierre Laval of France and Vidkun Quisling of Norway were executed after trials.

Christmas is back!

THIS time it's really Christmas. He is home.

- No need, now, to pretend . . . with just a snapshot for company. No need for the smile you didn't feel, that somehow failed to help much last time. He's home.
- And there he sits . . . appetite and all. Beaming. Hungry.
- Waiting for this hasn't been easy . . . for anyone. But now it's here . . . Christmas 1945.
- To Mom and Dad it brings the best gift of all . . . maybe a little bigger . . . maybe a little older. Good . . . all the more turkey then . . . all the more room in their hearts.

- Things haven't changed much around the house, come to think of it. The tree looks just like the one he dragged in six years ago . . . tracking snow all over the place and forgetting to mop it up. That boy! Even the holly hangs lopsided over Grandad's picture . . . he never could get it to sit straight. And the Christmas cards clutter up the mantelpiece so you can't see the clock. What a lot of friends the family has . . . all saying Merry Christmas, Merry Christmas!
- Yes, he's back and Christmas is back . . . so this time it's really Christmas.
- Let's keep it that way . . . for good.
