

PUBLIC SEES C.W.A.C. HOME

Attractive Living Establishment Subject of Much Favorable Comment

"This is our wartime home and we try to keep it like a home," said one of Prince Rupert's C.W.A.C.'s yesterday afternoon when escorting visitors around the quarters in the course of an "Open House." No doubt, it is the spirit of the girls thus expressed that motivates them in having such a delightfully spic and span and generally attractive living establishment as the many visitors saw and were constrained to remark upon. The C.W.A.C.'s occupy two wartime housing staff house buildings on Hays Cove Circle between Sixth and Seventh Avenues.

Received by Capt. Marjory Langley and Lieut. Evelyn Callan, the callers were turned over to girls of the Corps who courteously escorted them around for inspection of the quarters. The tour ended up in the main recreation room where refreshments were served. Presiding at the

Big Banquet By Women of Moose

At the regular meeting of the Prince Rupert Chapter No. 211, women of the Moose, held last Wednesday, it was decided to hold a banquet in the near future. Senior Regent Kasper announced that the next meeting would be interesting for it would include initiation, nomination of officers and a social under the auspices of the Child Care Committee. As Mrs. W. V. Tattersall was not present to claim the money from "Moose Cash," there will be $4 for some lucky member next time. The meeting was followed by a pleasant dance.

DISTRICT TRADE BOARD MEET SHOULD REDOUND TO BENEFIT OF NORTH AND CENTRAL B.C.

(By JACK McLEOD)

The conference of Associated Boards of Trade of Northern B.C. which concluded at Vanderhoof on Friday subscribed to a series of resolutions which are likely to have a strong influence on the future of northern and central British Columbia.

Nor is the atmosphere of unity engendered at the two-day meeting is not likely to fade. Pending within the next year are two more such meetings, one of which will also include Boards of Trade from Alaskan cities.

The meeting of the Associated Boards with those of Alaskan cities is to be held at an undetermined date, probably in Prince Rupert. It probably will be held this fall.

At the invitation of Terrace delegates George McAdams, the next annual meeting will be held in Terrace early next May. Mr. McAdams was elected vice-president of the organization, with Duncan Kerr, also of Terrace, as secretary. Mr. McAdams replaced Harry Taylor, of Vanderhoof, and Mr. Kerr replaced Arthur Brooksbank of Prince Rupert.

Overseas Officer Elected President

Major J. T. Harvey, who entered the army shortly after being elected president in 1939, was re-elected to that post for the 1945-46 period. In moving the re-election of Major Harvey, C. P. Bussinger, Telkwa, expressed the hope that he would soon be home from overseas to take his place in civilian life.

The final session of the conference moved enthusiastic expressions of thanks to the Vanderhoof Board of Trade and citizens for the hospitality they provided. Delegates from each visiting board and several guests arose to express their gratitude for the fine time they had been given.

At the conclusion of the busy initial session Thursday, the Vanderhoof Board of Trade tendered a banquet and dance at which townspeople and visitors broadened friendships.

Many of the resolutions passed by the meeting went through with a minimum of discussion while others engendered strong argument.

Only resolution to be withdrawn was one presented by Prince Rupert which urged that the federal government's National Housing Act be made applicable to Prince Rupert and other centres in the north central part of the province. The resolution was withdrawn when Arthur Arnold, of the National Housing administration, assured members that the act would be made available in Prince Rupert, Vanderhoof and other centres within the very near future.

Mr. Arnold said that he would be in Prince Rupert within a short time to observe local conditions with a view to putting the act into effect there.

The List of Resolutions

Resolutions passed by the meeting asked:
The completion of a highway from Prince Rupert to Jasper, the correction of the highway between Kitwanga and Hazelton. (Submitted by Hazelton).
Impartial survey of all north-south routes to Alaska. (Hazelton).

Establishment of Young Ranger Bands to educate young people in the preservation of forests. (Burns Lake).
Establishment of a forestry experimental and reforestation station in north-central B.C. (Burns Lake).

Selected policy of immigration. (Burns Lake).
Establishment of an airline from Prince Rupert to Vancouver. (Presented by Prince Rupert and amended to include a triangle route including Prince George).

Establishment of a publicity committee which will work in close conjunction with the Prince Rupert Public Relations committee. This committee consisted of W. F. Stone, Prince Rupert, Alfred Miller, Prince George, George McAdams, Terrace, J. W. H. Day, Vanderhoof, Allen race, M. F. Nourse, Burns Lake, Benson, Hazelton, and Dr. L. M. Green, Smithers.

KING AND QUEEN STAYED IN TOWN

LONDON, (P)—The King and Queen rejected plans to evacuate the royal family to the country from London when German invasion was considered imminent back in 1940. They wanted to share the dangers and hardships with their people.

Now peace has come to Europe and with it the revelation that probably no King, and certainly no Queen, in Britain's history has been closer to his subjects at war. The only occasion on which the Royal Standard did not fly from Buckingham Palace or Windsor Castle, both within the Greater London air raid area, was when the King was visiting his forces or inspecting war factories.

When bombs fell almost nightly on London during the blitz the King and Queen drove—sometimes in a splinter-proof automobile—to cheer the homeless amid ruins of their houses and in streets filled with still-blazing debris.

Six times enemy planes damaged the palace. Their Majesties spent many nights in a deep underground shelter while enemy planes and later flying bombs were overhead.

In one daylight raid by piloted planes the King and Queen, watching through a window, saw the bombs fall from the raider. In another, the Queen's private apartments were wrecked. Of several thousand windows in the palace, only a few score were left unbroken. Windsor Castle, however, escaped damage from enemy action.
