led out and members of the naval fire department and others applied artificial respiration for about an hour but to no avail. The fall was about 12 feet, Skipper Flander estimated. It was a treacherous ladder, witness said, and his heart was in his mouth whenever he used it. Pipe guides at the top were so much wider than the ladder that it tended to throw one off balance when transferring the grasp from the

CANADA'S VETERANS
Their Post-War Opportunities

The Re-establishment Credit—
AN EXPLANATION OF THE GRANT

In planning the return to civilian life of men and women in the armed forces, Canada's parliament realized that assistance in re-establishment must cover a wide variety of fields. For many—particularly younger members of the forces—the best method of effecting permanent re-establishment will be through training or through an opportunity to continue an interrupted education. Others can be assisted through land settlement—either on full time farms or on small holdings operated with some regular form of employment. In many cases a combination of these two things—training and land settlement—will be the solution. Legislation for this type of re-establishment was provided early in the war.

ANOTHER LARGE GROUP

There is, however, another very large group who do not need training and who are not suited for land settlement as provided under the Veterans' Land Act. After long months or years in uniform, these veterans will need assistance also. There will be those who normally would have owned their own homes but it had not been for their service. There will be those who own homes but who have been unable to carry out needed repairs and alterations. There will be veterans who sold businesses to enlist and who want to resume them, and others who are fitted for a business of their own but who need assistance in financing. The Re-establishment Credit is designed for this latter group, and primarily is an alternative to training and land settlement benefits.

PAID UNDER WAR SERVICE GRANTS ACT

The Re-establishment Credit is made available under the same Act of Parliament which provides War Service Gratuity. It is not a loan but an outright grant, paid to an eligible veteran to aid in re-establishment if the veteran decides not to use land settlement or training benefits. It may be used in Canada only at any time in the ten years following discharge for certain specified purposes as outlined in this advertisement. The grant is called a "credit" because it is an amount carried on the ledger to the credit of the veteran for ten years until used by him for a re-establishment purpose.

HOW TO APPLY FOR RE-ESTABLISHMENT

The re-establishment credit is an amount equal to the basic War Service Gratuity—that is $7.50 for each 30 days' service in the Western Hemisphere and $15.00 for each 30 days' service overseas. The amount is computed by the branch of the armed forces with which the veteran served, and for that reason application first must be made for the War Service Gratuity. When a statement showing the amount of the basic gratuity has been received by the veteran, application for the re-establishment credit may be made to the Department of Veterans Affairs on a form which may be secured from London, Feb. 13 (C) — Every branch of the R.A.F. and Women's Auxiliary Air Force—British equivalent of the R.C.A.F. Women's division—is being combed to find an estimated 15,000 instructors required for a vast scheme to prepare British men and airwomen for civil life.

The plan offers both wartime and permanent force members of the two services training in citizenship, educational course on various levels and basic instruction for civil jobs. It will come into force about one month after the European "cease fire" and continue until demobilization is completed, the Air Ministry said.

The instructors, most of them peacetime specialists, will volunteer for the task and will be brought up-to-date with the latest developments in their fields through 16-day co-educational schools in Italy, India, Egypt and Britain. Nine of the schools already are open.

Special rates of pay for these volunteer professors are being considered, the Ministry said. It indicated that the instruction classes are likely to be compulsory for all wartime volunteers and conscripts.

and Fred Grimble became secretary. Under the guidance of Mr. Youngs and other committee members of the Junior Chamber they carried on competently.

Following the election of officers, a nominating committee to make plans for a permanent executive was appointed by the president. It consisted of eight members, two from each high school grade. Grade 9: Tommy Boulter, Lloyd Franklin. Grade 10: Mel Thompson, Pat Thorsteinson. Grade 11: John Thompson, Donald Hartwig. Grade 12: Bob Cruikshank, Jack Macey.

A constitution committee consisting of the president, Lawrence Eddy, Reg Martin, Norton Youngs and Craig Miller was appointed for the purpose of drawing up a constitution. They were assured of the assistance of the Junior Chamber should it be required in this regard.

At the suggestion of Mr. Youngs a motion was passed that the nominating committee and the constitution committee combine to form a ways and means committee to determine the time and circumstances of the next meeting.

A committee to organize a work gang to level off Booth High School grounds was appointed. It consists of Mel Thompson, John Thompson, Craig Miller and Norton Youngs, Jr. Another committee to make suggestions for improvements to sanitary conditions in the High School consists of Henry Dixon, Neil Gillespie, Douglas Macaulay and Albert Eyolfson.

Preparation of the appetizing dinner which preceded the meeting was the effort of Mrs. T. N. Youngs and several ladies in the east end of the city and the Junior Chamber committee. The committee consisted of T. N. Youngs, chairman, Gordon Durkin, Rev. E. W. Scott, J. C. Gilker and Bruce Stevens. Members who volunteered as waiters and dishwashers were A. J. Dominato, Harold Ivarson, Ted Smith, Sam Currie Jr. and J. K. McLeod.

It also has made some of them less likely to stay married if they are unhappy, adds Daniel M. Eisenberg, president of the Skip Tracers Company, a private agency that looks for missing persons.

"Before the war," Eisenberg says, "we spent most of our time hunting A.W.O.L. husbands. Now a large part of our business is checking up on the background of men who have proposed marriage."

"Women seem more cynical and less willing to believe what they want to believe," is the explanation of A. E. Linker, the firm's general manager. "If they are not satisfied with a suitor's account of himself, they hire us to check up."

"Usually they act on the basis of our report, but there was one red-haired widow who just smiled when we told her the man in the case had impersonated an officer, assumed a professional title, served a prison term and concealed a former marriage."

"Oh, is that all?" she said. "I was afraid he might have been involved in something really bad."

WINTER ATTACKS, OCCUPIES CITY

Old Man Winter pulled a von Rundstedt counter-attack on Prince Rupert Monday, hurling a heavy armament of snow, wind and low temperature about with such tactical craftiness that he was successful in occupying the city.

Today like all conquered people, local citizens suffer the indignities of defeat. These consist largely of a return to slavery in the furnace room to keep their houses warm, the leg-wearing effort of walking on snowy sidewalks, the need to dodge snow balls and, perchance, a return of heavy underwear. There is also the fear of slipping for a fall on glazed streets.

Apparently the heaviest snowfall occurred after 4 o'clock this morning for at that time, according to the Digby Island Meteorological station, there was only an inch and a half of snow yet by 10 a.m. there was a blanket of four inches covering the city. Wind gusts reached gale proportions yesterday, bearing stinging sheets of snow and sleet.

Lowest temperature during the 24-hour period was 28 degrees, and the highest was 33 degrees.
