FEATURES FOR
VICTORIA DAY

School Boy Boxing Tournament—Tug of War—5-Mile Road Race

When the two boys in the 125-pound class meet in the ring at the Kinsmen's schoolboy boxing tournament Wednesday night at the Y they will battle for a special prize offered by a local merchant for the winner of this class. Not only that but they will be out for a silver trophy awarded to the best boxer in the ring that night. These are just two of the many prizes that are up for the contestants.

The track and field day winners at Acropolis Hill are to be on the receiving end of substantial prizes, too. The winners of the various classes in the parade are not left out, either. As a matter of fact there are prizes for every winner in the May 24 celebration.

These prizes have been made possible through the generous support of the many local merchants and citizens and will add considerable interest to the many events.

According to reports from the Prince Rupert Dry Dock and Shipyards the winner of the tug-of-war championship contest at the May 24 celebration is a foregone conclusion. However, several service units have heavy teams in the running and the contest is not going to be a walkaway for anyone. Prizes for this contest include the Daily News silver trophy for annual competition and $25 in cash.

A prize of $25 in cash is going to the winner of the 5-mile road race on May 24. The present course for the race is slightly less than 5 miles and will follow city streets including the downtown section. The race will start at Acropolis Hill and finish on the hill.

Fred Wells, well known northern mining man, arrived in the city last night from Vancouver and will proceed by this evening's train to Terrace in which district he has been for years actively interested. It is Mr. Wells' first visit to this area in some time.

By MARGARET WOODWARD

Tuesday evening another of our regular music hours will be held in the common lounge. Mrs.
Udow, well known singer, will be the guest artist. An invitation is extended to all service personnel and civilians to attend. Program:
"Symphony No. 6 in F Major"
"Pastoral" (Beethoven), Arturo Toscanini and BBC Orchestra.
"My Journey's End" (Fay Foster), John Charles Thomas.
"Vienna Waltzes" and "Rosa-munde Ballet" (Schubert), Victor Salon Orchestra.
"Marriage of Figaro" (overture) (Mozart), and "Moto Per-petuo" (Paganini), Eugene Ormandy and Minneapolis Symphony.
"Without a Song" and "Life is a Dream," Lawrence Tibbett.
"Pavane For a Dead Princess" (Ravel) and "Clair de Lune" (Debussy), Andre Kostelanetz and Orchestra.

There will be dancing tonight in the auditorium from 9 to 12 with Frankie Dutton's band supplying the music.

The Service Wives Club will hold a dinner Wednesday evening at the Commodore Cafe.
All members of the Wives Club will be very welcome.

"Y" Sports

The second game of semi-finals in the Area Floor Hockey League is being played tonight at the "Y" gym between the Air Force and Soo Suds. This is the single sudden-death game with the winner advancing into the final round against Navy which eliminated Artillery last Friday.
Final series opens Tuesday at the "Y" gym. A preliminary to the hockey games tonight will be a series of Officers' Area Volley Ball League games.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Norrington left yesterday morning by car for Terrace where they will make their future home.

THRILLING FILM,
ALSO ROMANTIC

Pat O'Brien, Robert Ryan and Ruth Hussey in "Marine Raiders"

Romance and thrilling action are blended in "Marine Raiders," which co-stars Pat O'Brien, Robert Ryan and Ruth Hussey at the Capitol Theatre this Monday and Tuesday.

O'Brien and Ryan portray Marine officers who go through the Guadalcanal affair and are sent to Australia for a rest. Ryan meets Miss Hussey, an Australian WAAF pilot, and the two are instantly attracted to one another.
But before they can get married, O'Brien, believing his friend is making a grave mistake, orders him back to California, where the two are assigned to help train a huge new invasion force.

Bitter over O'Brien's action, Ryan refuses to speak to him except officially, and the feud between the two men continues until they are sent back to Australia where the romance is picked up again in satisfying fashion before Ryan departs on a perilous mission.

The picture features a supporting cast headed by Frank Mc-Hugh and Barton MacLane.

DEANNA DURBIN
in
"CAN'T HELP SINGING"

John Bracken—The Worker

When, on December 11th, 1942, Bracken accepted leadership of a progressive people's party, he did not need to enumerate worn planks in an of-date political form. Instead, in ringing tones and admirable clarity he described in detail the people's charter.
He might just as well have called it
"Worker's Charter."

For when John Bracken speaks of the People he means the People. He means workers . . . ordinary, everyday people who labour for their daily bread. So that when orators glibly refer to "masses" it is quite incomprehensible to this of the soil. To him they are individuals he knows, understands, likes and, above all, wishes to help. They are, indeed, the only people this working farmer knows at all intimately.

The moment you meet John Bracken you know you are in the presence of a practical man—a Worker. The lean face, the strong hands, even the lined speak of open air toil, of long years of labour, the chore, the weariness, the insufficient rewards.

And if you want to find one single, all-comprehensive reason why John Bracken, for more than twenty years was able to retain unchallenged the Premiership Manitoba, here it is:—The people—the workers—recognized him as one of themselves, devoted above else to their interests.

And now—listen to John Bracken—the Worker.
"The people are confused and concerned. They member the poverty and unemployment of pre-days. They want assurance that the poverty—insecurity—will not return. They have hoped seen their hopes disappointed" and they are "sufficient from a feeling of immense frustration . . .

"They are looking for a lead . . . they are waiting some positive assurance of post-war security . . . when they think of security they mean—jobs at an adequate pay—insurance against the risks of ill-old age, accident and unemployment. They mean society in which they can have faith that economic justice will obtain."

Then, speaking of his own vital, resurgent people party John Bracken adds:—"We are out to make it party of the ordinary man, in every walk of life, demands that human welfare shall become the prime objective of the nation's economy."
