Archibald Wins Skeena Seat; Goes to Parliament for First Time

Young Archibald secured Plurality Over Liberal Candidate As Local Riding Swings to Proportional Government

Liberal for fifth year continuously, Skeena riding yesterday defied a five-year blush of socialism as votes from 130 polling divisions in the federal election gave victory to Leading Aircraftsman H. G. Archibald, C.C.F. candidate. It is the first time that Skeena has ever gone Socialist either federally or provincially.

LIBERALS LOSE IN POPULAR VOTE—C.C.F. SHOWS GAIN

Incomplete compilation of civilian vote from yesterday's federal election indicated Liberal candidates had polled 39 percent of a record national vote as the party was re-elected to power in the Dominion election. In 1940, the Liberals had polled 51 percent of the vote.

Will Have Close to Over-all Majority in Leading Country Through Last Stages of War and Opening of Peace Era

OTTAWA, June 12 (CP)—Canadians are relaxing today after the fevered activities of the general election campaign which ended in a Dominion-wide vote yesterday, the returns of which made definite that the voting public had chosen Prime Minister Mackenzie King to lead the country through the last stages of the war and the first stages of the peace.

Candidates Reactions

Archibald Sees Greater Party Achievements—Applewhite and Harvey Look Ahead

Victor in the federal election campaign in Skeena riding, LAC Harry G. Archibald told friends and supporters in the C.C.F. committee rooms here last night that he considered his victory not so much a personal triumph but as a step forward for the C.C.F. movement.

The youthful former North Vancouver seaman spoke informally in his initial moment of triumph over three other candidates, promising that "in the next election we will be the government."

"We will start working right away to win the next B.C. provincial election," he said.

He visualized the growth of his party as a development of "the brotherhood of man on a national, then an international scale."

Applewhite "Sadder—Wiser" He spoke after Liberal candidate E. T. Applewhite, runner-up, conceded him the election. Wry humor poured from Mr. Applewhite when asked to speak in the C.C.F. stronghold.

CANDIDATE MAY LOSE DEPOSIT

At least one candidate in Skeena riding is in danger of losing his $200 deposit as a result of voting in yesterday's federal election. On the basis of 117 polls heard from at noon today, Labor-Progressive candidate Bruce E. Mickleburgh lacked 382 votes of being able to reclaim the $200 which each candidate was required to put up as indication of good faith.

WELL KNOWN DOCTOR DIES

Dr. John McCombe Was For Years C.N.R. Medical Officer

MONTREAL, June 12—One of Canada's best known medical men, Dr. John McCombe, former chief medical officer, Canadian National Railways, who retired two years ago, died Monday at his home in Dorval, Quebec.

While he was with the C.N.R. Dr. McCombe's contribution to industrial hygiene was recognized in the United States. He was twice elected president of the Association of Railway Chief Surgeons and was appointed as chairman of the medical and surgical section of the Association of American Railroads. After he retired in April 1943, Dr. McCombe remained consultant to the railway's medical department.

In addition to his widow, the former Ethel Mabel McGinnis, he is survived by two sons, Squadron Leader Robert McCombe, G. M., with the R.C.A.F. in Europe, and John, now in business in northern Ontario, following military service overseas.

Coldwell Blames 'Lies' and L.P.'s

OTTAWA, June 12 (P)—M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, attributed his party's lack of success in the federal election yesterday to "falsehoods and distortions" and confusion caused by the "Communists under the guise of Labor-Progressives."

LONDON, (P)—The D.S.O. has been awarded Flt. Lt. E. E. Stocker of Sheerness who has been on more than 100 operational flights.

The latest count from Yukon last night, with isolated polls yet to be heard from, gave Tom MacEwen, Labor-Progressive, a tie with George Black, Progressive-Conservative.

How British Columbia Went

The Progressive-Conservatives elected six members in British Columbia, the Liberals four, the C.C.F. four, Independent on and Independent C.C.F. one.

Among the elected were Major-General G. R. Pearkes, V.C., over Lieut.-Col. Allan Chambers in Nanaimo and Lieut.-Col. Cecil Merritt, V.C., in Vancouver-Burrard.

The aged Sir Henry Drayton won Victoria in a hard-fought contest with Robert W. Mayhew, seeking re-election. William Irvine, C.C.F. from Alberta, defeated J. G. Turgeon, Liberal, in a close race for Cariboo.

H. W. Herridge, Independent C.C.F., who challenged the central control of his party, was elected in Kootenay West after a close fight with Frank Tracy, official C.C.F. candidate.

Angus MacInnis was one of the first conceded elected as he retained Vancouver East for the C.C.F. Howard Green had an easy victory for re-election in Vancouver South.

Grote Stirling, veteran Conservative in Yale, was also conceded elected early to give him his seventh term in Parliament. Tom Reid, Liberal, had no difficulty retaining New Westminster but George Cruickshank had a real battle with the C.C.F. to retain Fraser Valley.

TO THE ELECTORS OF SKEENA:

May I express my appreciation to the people of Skeena for the support given me at the polls yesterday. On behalf of the C.C.F. I accept your confidence and pledge my best efforts on your behalf.

My deepest gratitude and thanks go to all campaign workers through the riding who gave so freely of their time.

HARRY G. ARCHIBALD.
