RUP-REC - News -

Westview Bush Rangers—Saturday was a day of festivities for the Westview Bush Rangers. A successful party was held to commemorate the opening two years ago of this club for boys. The fact that the club has survived through the past two stormy years indicates that it must be organized on a sound basis and directed by youths who are keen, alert and industrious. Both suppositions are true. The club members decided from the beginning that, if the club was to endure, the responsibility of administration must be portioned out to as many fellows as possible. The recent election of officers and appointment of committees gives an excellent example of this tendency.

The following are the present executive:

President—Everett Pierce.
Secretary—Denis Garon.
Finance Committee—Everett Pierce, Allen Hartwig, Norman Shenton.
Refreshment Committee—Gardner Paul, Norman Shenton, Stewart Hills.

LAWSON LITTLE TRIES COMEBACK

1940 National Open Champ After Three Years in Navy Eyes Winter Tour at 34
By FRANK ECK

NEW YORK, Dec. 3 (AP)—W. Lawson Little, who reached his peak as a golfer ten years ago but added the National Open to his list of conquests five years later, has his eyes set on golf's gold dust trail, and there are few professionals who doubt that he will make the grade.

Little, now 34, and nearing playing weight at 190 pounds, has been away from competitive golf three years. He went into the U.S. Navy as an apprentice seaman December 12, 1942, and was a lieutenant when discharged October 24.

Little came into prominence by winning the British Amateur and National Amateur tournaments in 1934 and again in 1935, the only time these two events were won in succession by the same man. But it was in 1929 that the Monterey, Calif., golfer gave an inkling of becoming a top flight linksman.

That year he played in the National Amateur at Del Monte and lost to Francis Ouimet, 1 up, in a third round match. Ouimet was quick to predict a great future for Little, then a mere youth of 18.

In 1930, the year Bobby Jones scored his famous grand slam—British Open and Amateur and U.S. Open and Amateur—Little reached the second round in the National Amateur. In 1932 he bowed in the opening round, but the following year, at the age of 22, he reached the semi-final.

The next two years he scored with ease in the National Amateurs, first at Brookline, Mass., then at Cleveland.

Took British
In 1934

But it was in May, 1934, that he set the golfing world on fire by winning his first major tournament, taking the British Amateur. He beat Jim Wallace on the 23rd hole, 14 and 13. At the halfway mark he was 12 up, scoring an eagle and seven birdies along the way. He beat Dr. William Tweddell, 1 up, to retain the crown in 1935.

When the year was up Little was awarded the James E. Sullivan award.

In 1936 he turned pro for a $10,000 first year contract with a sporting goods firm. Four months later he won his first title as a pro, taking the Canadian Open with a 271 for 72 holes.

The following year he annexed the San Francisco match play title and in 1939 he accepted the job as pro at Bretton Woods, N.H. In 1940 he turned in a blazing five-un-par final round 65 to capture the Los Angeles Open. Five months later he beat Gene Sarazen by three strokes in the playoff at the National open at Warrensville, Ohio.

One of Little's incredible rounds came in 1941 when he took the Texas Open. His 62 beat Ben Hogan by three shots.

Little, who served as a Navy lieutenant at Honolulu where he played with friendly competition, will spend the next few weeks practicing for Bing Crosby's tournament at Del Mar, Calif., the last week in December.

If Lawson shows any semblance of his once great game, golf's winter trail will be worth watching.

The English sparrow has conquered every climate on earth except the Arctic.
