BASKETBALL PLAY-OFFS-Bo-Me-Hi Wins Again; Are

Nearing The Senior "A" Title MACEY'S AND GYROS ALSO WINNERS SATURDAY NIGHT

Bo-Me-Hi Rainmakers pounced on the hapless Savoy squad in the opening phrase of the Senior "A' basketball championship finals, downing their rivals 67-47 in a fast and furious battle Saturday night. Mel Thompson was the star for the lads from Bo-Me-Hi, racking up 20 counters for his team. Savoy could not get rolling as the high School* quintet threw a hex on the hotelmen, outscoring them in every frame. In their effort to take the win, the students ran afoul of the referees and were handed 25 of the game's 37 fouls. Two lads from the campus were banishd on five fouls as For man and Ciccone, the two defensemen, played the last quarter of the game from the bench.

QUINTUPLETS A BOVINE RARITY-Dr. L. J. Smith may never become as famous as Canada's renowned late Dr. Dafoe, even though both participated in births of almost equal rarity. With Dr. Smith, however, the quintuplet birth; occurred in the bovine world. He is shown with the big five Nebraska quintuplet calves born Nov. 26, 1945, on the farm of Leo Schmoldt, Fairbury, Neb. This is the second case of quint calves recorded in the world and the first in the U.S. They are the only ones to live more than eight days. They caused so much commotion that farmer Schmoldt claimed the public was upsetting his farm and sold the quint calves to Dr. Smith, who is credited with saving their lives. The names of the calves are: L. to R., Russia, England, China, France, and the United States.
