A Lot FOR a LITTLE—In the town garden where space is at a premium the wise gardener will concentrate on those space-saving vegetables like beets, carrots, spinach, lettuce, onions, beans and similar large-yielding things that can be grown in rows of from 12 to 15 inches apart.

Where the plot is restricted, most people will give up growing their own potatoes, and possibly some of the others. Peas, however, though they do occupy a good deal of room, are so much tastier when freshly picked from the garden at the door, that special consideration is often given to them.

Be Ready for Pests—In pioneer gardens there were no potato bugs, no cut worms and little disease. Today, unfortunately, there is a special pest for almost every flower and vegetable and more seem to appear each year. However, also appearing are better sprays, dusts and other control measures, some of them like the new DDT and 2, 4-D being revolutionary in results.

The best protection against disease is a healthy garden, grown from good disease-resistant seed, well cultivated and free from weeds. Bugs harbor among weed growth waiting until the garden stuff is big enough for a raid. There are bugs that eat holes in the foliage. Poison will get these. There are bugs that suck out the juices and the plant will wither. These must be attacked with a spray that will burn. Disease usually hits the plant cells and causes withering or rot in blackish spots. Chemicals like sulphur are used in this case. Often one good treatment will be enough, but with things like leaf hoppers and potato bugs which lay eggs two or three successive treatments to get the young ones will be needed. Most chemicals lose their potency in time so a fresh supply each season is necessary. Be ready for the enemy!

Plenty of Time—There is nothing quite like the thrill of being able to boast to a neighbor that your flowers or vegetables are days ahead of his. But there is also much solid satisfaction in having good and beautiful things from the garden long after those next door are done. Perhaps the commonest mistakes of all amateur gardeners are planting too soon and stopping too soon.

With vegetables, especially, most varieties should be sown at least three times about two weeks apart. This will protect

Rhubarb Upside-Down Cake

The rhubarb season is here again and of all the many ways to serve it, none will be more popular with your family than this upside-down cake. It's tasty, different and, best of all, it's easy to prepare. Here's how you go about it.

Topping:
2 cups sliced rhubarb
1 tablespoon flour
1/2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 cup corn syrup

Cake:
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup sugar
3/4 teaspoon grated orange rind
2 eggs, unbeaten
1 cup sifted flour

3 tablespoon baking powder
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon salt
4 shredded wheat biscuits finely rolled
3/4 cup milk

First, arrange rhubarb carefully in radiating pattern in bottom of deep cake pan. Sprinkle with flour, sugar and cinnamon. Pour corn syrup over all.

Make cake by creaming together shortening, sugar and orange rind. Then, add eggs and beat well. Sift together flour, baking powder, nutmeg and salt. Mix with shredded wheat and add alternately with milk to egg mixture. Spread evenly over the fruit. Bake in moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) 40 minutes. Invert on serving plate and remove pan while still warm. Serve warm with cream. Serves 8.

FRANK PERRY IS MARRIED

Wedding of Interest Throughout This District Takes Place in Vancouver

A wedding of particular interest throughout Central British Columbia took place at St. Mary's Anglican Church in Vancouver last Thursday evening when Frank S. Perry, second son of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. T. Perry of Prince George, was married to Margaret Janet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Horton of this city. Rev. A. J. Williams officiated at the ceremony.

For her wedding the bride wore an all-white frock of satin and net and a full-length embroidered net veil. She carried a shower of red roses and stephanotis.

Miss Christine Ramsden, maid of honor, and Miss Mary Fox, as bridesmaid, were gowned in nylon marquisette in green and yellow respectively. They carried mauve lilies and carnations. Thomas Marshall was groomsman.

After a honeymoon in Banff Mr. and Mrs. Perry will reside in Vancouver, where the former is a law student at U.B.C.

The groom, before the war, was identified with the staff of the Citizen newspaper at Prince George. He served early in the war at Prince Rupert, later going overseas where he attained the rank of captain. His father is head of the Prince Rupert Daily News and Prince George Citizen publications and former minister of education.

BOUNTY ON EGGS—HIGH PRAIRIE, Alta. —The High River branch of the Alberta Fish and Game Association in a concentrated drive on crows and magpies are offering youthful hunters of the district something to shoot at. The branch will give youngsters two cents an egg and five cents for each pair of feet.
