CITY BUILT ON BIG COAL BED

But It's "Pretty Poor Stuff" Amateur Vancouver Geologist Says

VANCOUVER, (P)-The city of Jancouver is sitting atop one vast coal deposit that is actually 'pretty poor stuff," according to amateur geologist Philip Timms, city printer.

The deposit got there, said Mr. Timms, when prehistoric forests became entangled in glacial till moving down from the interior ages ago. The till, horn Pullets 8 weeks old. sell- it, caught on three fingers of ing April 26. $1.10 each. 10c a rock at Prospect Point, Little week thereafter. If a spray is preferred, then a wettable D.D.T. powder is recommended, rather than one containing any solvent. The D. D.T. does not dissolve in water, but a wettable powder will mix thoroughly with it and be held in suspension. It can thus be applied evenly to a plant and when the water evaporates the D.D.T. will remain as a deposit on the stems and leaves.

This "residue" will kill insects which walk across it, whether they be the type that eat plant tissues or drink plant juices. It may remain on the plant for weeks or even months depending on its strength in the first place, and its exposure to sun and rain, both of which shorten the toxic period. In any event it is effective much longer than the older poisons and requires fewer applications.

Six Prairie Porkers Seabound to N.Z.

NOKOMIS, Sask., (P) - Six curebred Duroc Jersey hogs, raised in this central Saskatchewan district, are enjoying an ocean voyage to New Zealand where they will settle on the farm of their new owner.

The four females and two males, total weight 2,430 pounds, and all one year old, were sold by Sam Stolt and Robert Edwards of this district 60 miles north of Regina to a New Zealand farmer.

The hogs left by rail for Vancouver where they will board he ss. Wairuna for a sevenweek voyage. They will spend 30 days in quarantine at a New Zealand port before they start a 450-mile journey to their new

More than 1,300 pounds of feed was shipped with the hogs.
