AUSSIE SHOPPING IS WEARY CHORE

Finds Ttrips to Three Stores Needed to Supply Family Menu

By LEONE KENNEDY
Written for the Canadian Press

SIDNEY, Australia (CP) — By Canadian standards, shopping for food and clothing in Australia is complicated. The Australian housewife has to visit at least three shops to fill her dinner menu, while a clothing ration of 56 coupons a year frequently restricts her to window-gazing.

Unlike groceterias in Canada which offer such a variety of wares as vegetables and ink, Australian food shops keep to one line of goods. Butchers sell meat, greengrocers deal in vegetables and fruit, and grocers handle canned goods as well as packaged and bulk foods. Bacon is sold in a delicatessen, while organge juice is sold in bottles by greengrocers and in the can by grocers.

Canadians here agree that cream, milk and bread are better in Australia than in Canada though there are some disadvantages involved. Cream, nonexistent as far as the public was concerned during the war and released to the market last December, can seldom be obtained. Milk is not normally sold in bottles but poured into a can, known as a "billy," set on the doorstep by a householder. Bread is not wrapped.

The best bargains in fruit and vegetables are offered not in shops but by street peddlers. Some are licensed but those not licensed alternate between making sales at low prices and dodging the police.

During the war, coupons were required for practically every article of clothing, but now shoes, hats and stockings are coupon-free. Some Australians say their more important items of clothing have worn out and the present ration is inadequate.

In the matter of clothing, the Australian woman can reason she is far better off than her British counterpart and slightly worse off than the Canadian housewife.

NEXT IN LINE TO GREEK THRONE—At age of three Prince Constantine of Greece learned to salute during a military parade in Athens. Just behind him stands his mother, who became Queen Frederika when King Paul I succeeded the late King George II. Now six years old, Constantine becomes crown prince and heir-apparent. While their majesties have a daughter, Princess Sophia, eight, Greek law allows only male succession.

CHILDREN'S ART AT PARIS EXHIBIT

VANCOUVER— Fifty samples of Vancouver children's art are now on their way to the International Exhibition of Child Art to be held in the famous Luxembourg galleries of Paris from May 15 to July 15.

The exhibit calls for pictures in any media by artists from six to 14 years of age. Self portraits and Vancouver harbor storm scenes are among the group sent from the junior classes. Public school pupils have contributed and the remainder of the picked drawings, mostly of the more imaginative type done in water colors and crayons.

"Some very excellent work has gone out in these pictures," said A. S. Grigsby, art gallery curator.

Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Cross, who have been visiting their daughters Joan and Frances here for the last three weeks, are sailing Saturday to return to their home in Vancouver. Enroute they will stop at Alert Bay to visit their son Bert, who is manager of the Home Oil Co. there. Mr. Cross is a former customs officer at Prince Rupert.

Simple Wardrobe Is Inexpensive

NEW YORK (CP)—Simple lines, good grooming and an educated color sense are what makes a woman "best dressed," say the 25 women picked daily over Easter to be photographed and interviewed by the newspaper P.M.

It does not take a lot of money to bring these fashion pointers to life in your own wardrobe but it does take time, thought and effort. Busy housewives and working women haven't much time to spare for clothes, but many of the 25 belonged to these groups. Here are some of their instructions:

Neatness of appearance comes first, then simplicity of line in dress. Most of the women preferred tailored clothes.

"Know your figure" was important advice reminding women that all styles are not uniformly becoming to all women.

It's better to under-dress with accessories and jewelry than over-dress—you can be sure all the items in your wardrobe will harmonize by keeping colors down to a few—an "organized" look should be your goal, even in casual clothes.

HEIGHT OF MODESTY

WINNIPEG, (CP)—The height of modesty was reached recently in a department store here. A young man walked up to the lingerie counter and handed the saleslgirl a written list of articles he desired to buy. Thinking the man was deaf and dumb the girl penciled a note that they were sold out of the things he wanted. Blushing deeply, the young man verbally thanked the astonished girl and left.

MARY'S WINE BATH

Mary, Queen of Scots, is said to have bathed in wine regularly.

"I've never been so insulated in all my life, Madam. I begin MY day with super-delicious Grape-Nuts Flakes!"

"Well lands sakes! You too! Seems like everybody's gotta have Post's Grape-Nuts Flakes or they figure they don't start the day right."

"Lady, that's because they're so deliciously malty-rich, so temptingly honey-golden, so delectably crisp, so . . ."

"I know, I know, and they supply carbohydrates for energy; proteins for muscle; phosphorus for teeth and bones; iron for the blood; and other food essentials. All because they're made of two sun-ripened Canadian grains—wheat and malted barley — skillfully blended, baked and then toasted."

"And they're easy to digest, too. Go pour me a big economy package. And take a look at those recipes for cookies and other good things made with Post's Grape-Nuts Flakes. I'll be back this way later."
