

REMARRIAGE IS OPPOSED

BEDFORD, England. (C)—It should be "made impossible" for a divorced person to re-marry while his or her former partner is still alive, the Anglican Bishop of St. Alban's, Rt. Rev. Philip H. Loyd told the St. Alban's Diocesan Conference.

"Many people may think this is a very hard rule, to observe without exception," the Bishop said, "but we are with our backs against the wall, fighting to maintain the sanctity of Christian marriage."

"Nothing less than the strict observance of that rule is going to stay the rot. We are made Christians not just to be comfortable in this world. The hardship of having to live a celibate life may be very real for some, but it is not intolerable."

The Bishop said for he never gave permission for marriage of divorced persons in church while their divorced partner was still alive, nor did he sanction any blessing of a marriage performed in a registry office.

MISSIONARY IS 92 YEARS OLD

Veteran United Church missionary of this district and first native to be ordained in the ministry in British Columbia, is celebrating his ninety-second birthday today and is receiving congratulations of his many friends. Mr. Pierce has been retired from the ministry for several years and now lives quietly at his home in the city. For years he was stationed at Port Essington but has also had ecclesiastical charges in many other points along the coast.

SHORTRIDGE NEW BLDG. INSPECTOR

W. H. Shortridge was appointed to the position of city building and plumbing inspector by city council last night following the resignation on June 27 of City Engineer E. A. Phillips.

PRINCE RUPERT IS GIVEN MENTION

Prince Rupert is given mention in a current magazine article descriptive of Mary Granman, who comes from Fredericton away down in New Brunswick and who is known as "Just Mary" to millions of children all over America. Every Sunday afternoon, over CBC, Mary tells her stories. All youngsters, and quite a few adults, are never happy till they hear them. Here's how this city enters the picture. The article says: "But not all Mary's fans are children. During a visit to Toronto, a lieutenant stationed at Prince Rupert called Mary on the phone and said: 'You don't know me, but the fellows back at camp asked me to 'phone you and ask how Gloria Hen is.'"

OBJECTING TO EXTENSION

have been closely estimated at $25,955,000 the brief said.

This estimate falls short by $36,700,000 of providing for fixed charges amounting to $62,745,000 and nothing towards return to the shareholders or owners.

In contrast to the static position of railway rates, the brief showed, the effect of cumulative increases in wages and prices since 1939 will be to increase operating costs of the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National, not including auxiliary services, in 1947 by $101,805,000 for wages and $62,943,000 for materials, a total of $164,748,000 more than would have been the case had the 1939 level of wages and prices prevailed. As a result, the financial position of the railways has become "gravely imperilled."

"It will be observed that an increase in gross earnings from 1949 to 1946 of $252,410,017 was more than offset by an increase in working expenses of $275,699,045 so that net earnings in 1946 were $11,288,428 lower than in 1940."

In order to secure relief to the serious financial situation, the brief said, the railways had applied for increased freight rates which, if granted in full, would provide an estimated $87,703,000 annually in additional revenue. This figure was based on existing freight traffic conditions which were at an exceptionally high level and which must be regarded as a temporary condition.

"Moreover, the estimated increase in revenue of $87,703,000 compares with increased expenses resulting from increased wages and prices of $104,748,000" the brief said.

"The application of the railways for tariff increases has encountered strong opposition throughout the country. Hearings before the Board of Transport Commissioners are still in progress.

"However, even should the decision be made on the basis of granting the railways the full amount of their applications, the results to the railways would be such as to leave no margin for further increases in costs.

The present demand for increased vacation allowance is only one of a number of demands involving very substantially increased expense already presented to the railways on behalf of a few groups of employees, some of whom are represented in the case presently before the board.

It is estimated that the vacation demand insofar as these employees are concerned would cost the railways $5,000,000 while if vacation on the same basis were applied to all classes of employees, the cost would be over $6,000,000. It would be appreciated that, if a uniform vacation allowance were established for this group, it would not be withheld from the remainder. If any other groups should submit demands, such demands would undoubtedly concern matters involving further increased expenses.
