BURNS MEMORY HONORED HERE

Banquet at Presbyterian Church Is Great Success
Observance of the 188th anniversary of the birth of the poet Robert Burns, the First Presbyterian Church was crowded to capacity Saturday night for the banquet held under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of Church.

Miss Frances Moore, ATCM, delighted the gathering with her rendition of "Romance" by Tschakowsky, and "The Old Scotch Songs." She then accompanied Mrs. Barbara Brown in the songs, "My Love Is Like a Red, Red Rose," and "John Anderson, My Jo," which were sung to the great enjoyment of all present.

ing "O Canada" and the Banquet Burns Grace, delivered by George C. Mitchell, chairman of the evening, the guests welcomed by Mrs. E. F. Saunders, president of the Ladies' Aid. There followed a delicious meal in which the traditional Scottish dishes were served, especially the Haggis, brought into the hall by Capt. Calderwood to the accompaniment of stirring strains by Jim McKay. The address Haggis was given by Miss Hood, R.N., whose Scots accent was a surprise.

Fred Conrad, in a thoughtful address, proposed the toast to Bonnie Scotland, and the response was made by Orme G. Stuart who, as a Canadian Navy officer, had spent several years in Scotland and paid tribute to the beauty of the land and the qualities of its people.
Declaring the banquet to have been one of the most successful and enjoyable, James Hadden moved a vote of thanks which was heartily applauded and the program closed with the singing of the familiar Burns song "Auld Lang Syne."

ing the Toast to the George Mitchell opened program in humorous vein called upon the piper for rendition of Scottish airs were enthusiastically received after which the entire group joined in two well-known songs of the Scottish "Sweet Afton" and "Comin' Thro' the Rye," led by J. A. Teng, accompanied by Mrs. E. J.

The banquet was convened by Mrs. E. F. Saunders and Mrs. T. A. McMeekin, assisted by Mesdames Bruce Wilson, H. C. Halliday, D. Kristmanson, J. McLeod, J. MacLeod, M. MacArthur, S. J. Hunter, Robt. Munro, T. W. Brown, Neil MacDonald, W. W. Bowes, W. P. Elkins, J. G. Garrett. The following girls of the C.G.I.T. also assisted as servers: Misses Barbara Teng, Mary Anderson, Jean Calderwood, Kathleen Smith, Donna MacArthur, Lorna House, Gael MacRae, Muriel Shier.

WILL REQUEST SALVATIONISTS TAKE OVER HOME

Prince Rupert's Pioneer Home may be operated by the Salvation Army. At least, the city plans to sound out that organization on the possibility. Council last night approved a health committee report recommending that the Salvation Army be asked whether it would be interested in operating the Pioneer Home and, if so, under what conditions. The present superintendent of the Pioneer Home, S. B. Calder, plans to leave that position in May.

POLICE HEAD TO VISIT HERE

Police Commissioner T. W. S. Parsons will arrange a meeting with Prince Rupert city council to discuss details of the new policing agreement offered the city by the provincial police, he told council in a letter read at last night's council meeting.

CITY GROUPS ASK GRANTS

Requests to the city council by two local organizations for financial assistance during the coming year were referred to finance committee for consideration when the estimates are drawn up while a third request from an outside organization for aid was ordered filed.

Anticipating unusual expenditures due to the fact that Prince Rupert will be the site of one, and possibly two conventions this year, the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce sought resumption of a civic grant such as was paid before the war.

Chamber of Commerce Secretary E. T. Applewhite told council in a letter that this year's expenditures for that body might be $1,200 due to the fact that Prince Rupert would be the location of this year's convention of the Associated Boards of Trade of Northern B.C., and might also be chosen for the convention of the Northwest Trade Association.

Income of the organization is made up wholly from membership fees which will total between $810 and $840 this year, according to Mr. Applewhite.

The Prince Rupert Public Relations Council sought resumption of the $500 grant paid by the city two years ago in order to pursue its plans for publicizing the city. The request was signed by Public Relations Council treasurer Arnold Flaten.

Both were referred to finance committee.

A request for a "generous donation" by the Health League of Canada, with headquarters in Toronto, was ordered filed.

"Our own provincial government is doing good work in the field of health. I think we should support it fully," Mayor Arnold said when the request was considered.

An application by the British Sailors Society for permission to hold a tag day here was also filed.
"We will be glad to help them out when deep sea ships start calling here," Alderman Youngs commented.
