MISS TRUMAN SEEKING CAREER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Margaret Truman, who takes a career for her own, has taken an apartment in New York.

The President's daughter, who was 23, Feb. 17, has found a place where she can continue her vocal lessons, preparatory to a professional contract, and be hostess in her own right.

She is studying with her long-time teacher, Mrs. J. T. Strickler of Kansas City, Mo. Without fanfare, poised and level-headed, conservative in action and appearance, Margaret has broken precedent for first daughters of the land as did Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt for first ladies when she gave the Associated Press an interview on the day the late President Roosevelt was first inaugurated in 1933 and later wrote, lectured, and spoke on the radio.

Each felt the need to express herself, to be a personality in her own right and not let the tall iron gates of 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue, close her in.

SEEKS PRIVACY - The blonde, blue-eyed Margaret has asked that her apartment address be withheld that she might have privacy. Her personal friends will know it.

Unaffected and friendly, she is handling her role with dignity. She seems unimpressed by the White House background and determined, her friends say, that no capitalization of it be made in her career. She wants to win on her own.

There was a hint at a recent White House news conference, held by Mrs. James Helm, social secretary, that when Margaret signs a contract in opera, radio or for a recital, it will be announced - thus indicating perhaps that she is considering offers.

Whatever her decision is, Margaret can't count on her parents' blessing, their presence by the radio or perhaps in the front row for her debut. Mrs. Truman has said she wants Margaret to have a career if she wants one, and the form it takes is to be Margaret's own decision.

FINE TRIBUTE TO MR. RAYMOND BY P.R. MINISTERIAL ASSOCIATION

Fine tribute is paid by the Prince Rupert Ministerial Association to W. J. Raymond, editor of the Evening Empire which was recently taken over by the Daily News. A copy of the testimonial to Mr. Raymond has been sent to the Daily News by Rev. A. F. MacSween, secretary of the Prince Rupert Ministerial Association. It is as follows:

"It was the unanimous wish of the members of our Association that an expression of appreciation should be forwarded to you at this time in recognition of the courtesies which the churches of the city have received during the many years of your connection with The Evening Empire. We are grateful for the many articles and reports and for the thought-provoking editorials that have been published in support of the common objective of the Church and, above all, for the happy personal relationships which have obtained between yourself and the representatives of the various local churches.

"It is my pleasure to convey this message to you and to add, on behalf of all our members, the wish that you may enjoy much happiness and satisfaction in the years to come."

Where you can't just "PHONE THE DOCTOR!"

THE day of the struggling pioneer is not past. Today, in many frontier districts of Canada, families are struggling against great odds to open up new territories and to make a living. Isolated by distance and meagre transportation, these families live in loneliness and in primitive conditions. When accident or sickness strikes, the nearest doctor may be more than 100 miles away.

In such remote regions, the Canadian Red Cross operates Outpost Hospitals and Nursing Stations. Many dramatic stories could be written of the mercy services rendered by these hospitals and by the valiant Red Cross Outpost Nurses. Space permits only the citing of a few figures.

ONE YEAR'S RECORD In 54 Red Cross Outpost Hospitals 40,000 (approx.) patients were treated 2,000 babies were born 5,000 operations were performed 558 clinics were held and some 17,000 children examined To continue and further this great work the Red Cross urgently needs money. Every dollar you can give will represent you and your share in these many "good deeds".
