Leonard Campbell Will Get Worse Instead of Better, It is Found

Leonard Campbell, 11-year-old Prince Rupert boy, who was recently sent to crippled children's hospital in Vancouver as a result of a campaign con- back ducted on his behalf in this city. will not recover but will become "progressively worse." This is the verdict of specialists in Vancouver who have diagnozed that he is suffering from creeping Plight Brings paralysis. His legs are already useless and his arms are losing their power. Now he gets around by crawling. Before long he will not even be able to do that. Mrs. Ross Richardson, who took the lad south recently, is now endeavoring to find a home for him in Vancouver where he is about to be discharged from the crippled children's hospital because of his incurability.
