appropriate qualifications. Another resolution favored the supplying without charge of counsel to people of small means in all courts higher than the county court.

DECENTRALIZATION
Decentralization of population and industries in the interests of sounder economy, happier way of life and in the interests of national security and survival in modern warfare was strongly urged with the recommendation that the federal and provincial governments consult with industry and labor unions with a view to enacting legislation to aid in such decentralization.

Provincial and federal governments were urged to do everything in their power to aid in the establishment of a steel industry in this province.

Removal of price restrictions on distribution of petroleum products was urged by the executive in the interests of development of oil in British Columbia.

In regard to the present exemption of government property from municipal taxation, the executive held that boards, commissions and companies of government operating as commercial organizations should pay their just and proper share of municipal taxation by grant.

The government was urged in another resolution to expedite the completion of the main highway program in the province and make better provision for the improvement and maintenance of secondary and lateral roads throughout the province.

Improving and extending the teaching of the two official languages of English and French everywhere in Canada was approved by the executive.

The provincial government was commended for its efforts to extend the Pacific Great Eastern Railway from Squamish to the Peace River.

A proposal to approve legislation of hospital sweepstakes in British Columbia was rejected.

Setting up of citizenship committees in each riding with a view to acquainting future citizens of the duties and responsibilities of citizenship was urged.

A more equitable distribution of school costs than mere tax on land was also advocated by the executive session.

Pretty Rite In Anglican Church

Miss Shirley Pearson
Becomes Bride of Perry Mork

An interesting and beautiful marriage took place Saturday evening at 7 o'clock in St. Andrew's Anglican Cathedral when Shirley Patricia Pearson, daughter of Mrs. Mabel Pearson and the late Oliver Macleod of Coal Lake, Alberta, became the bride of Perry Christian Mork, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Hilmar Mork, Seventh Avenue East.

Before the entry of the bridal party Peter Lien played several beautiful organ selections, Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" was played as the bride entered the church, accompanied by her brother-in-law, Barry Scollen, by whom she was given in marriage.

The bride's attendants were her sister, Mrs. Betty Scollen, as matron of honor, and Miss Dorothy Marshall as bridesmaid.

The bride was a lovely picture in a Princess mode gown of white satin with sweetheart neckline and long sleeves forming points over the back of the hand. The bride wore a halo of pearls clouded with a veil of silk net. A necklace and earrings of rubies blended beautifully with her shower bouquet of deep red roses.

The matron of honor was charming in a gown of pink taffeta with shoulder length veil, carrying a colonial bouquet of pink and white carnations.

The bridesmaid was prettily gowned in yellow taffeta with shoulder length veil, carrying a colonial bouquet of yellow and mauve chrysanthemums.

Following the ceremony at the Cathedral, a reception was held at the home of the groom's parents where nearly 100 friends gathered to extend their congratulations and best wishes to the young couple, who stood under a large white bell in a pretty arch of pink and white embanked by lover's knots of tulle and tall tapers.

The bride was assisted in receiving the guests by the groom's mother, Mrs. Mork, who wore a becoming gown of pink green crepe with hat to match and a corsage of pink roses.

The toast to the bride was proposed by Rev. Canon Basil S. Prockter and responded to fittingly by the groom.

The toast to the bride's attendants was proposed by Alex Mitchell and responded to by the groomsmen, Peter Macleod, brother of the bride.

The bride's table, centered with a beautiful lace cloth and six silver tapers, was centered with a three-tier wedding cake, which

IN 50 YEARS ALUMINUM HAS GROWN TO BE A LARGE PART OF CANADIAN LIVING

Arvida, Que. — Mind's-eye view, 1925

Arvida — my home, 1950

"It means a lot to me!"

"See this model? It was made before I was born, and when Arvida was just farmland. Yet I can show you on it just where our house is, and the streets along which I come to work, or go to the stores, or to church, or to play tennis or ski. And I can show you the aluminum smelter where my father works, and the powerhouse where my boyfriend works — and the house in which we're going to live when we're married."

"It's all here. This is a miniature of an up-to-date city, a city that has everything — and was born full-size. That's why I call it, 'A piece of future Canada in a glass case'."

"You see, an engineer's dream has added a city to Canada — a place where 12,000 people like me live and work and enjoy ourselves. My neighbours who have lived in other places tell me this is the nicest city in Canada. Certainly I wouldn't want to live anywhere else."

The smelter at Arvida, the powerhouses at Shipshaw close by, the wharves at Port Alfred a few miles away — these are only parts of what Alcan has planned and built in Canada during the last fifty years. The Company is still planning, still building. Its growth makes Canada a bigger, better, richer place in which to live and work — for every aluminum ingot produced in Canada makes Canada that much better off.
