> Salad a Day-The rules for health say "serve a salad every day," and this means at least one green or raw vegetable in the day's meals. Raw carrots, beets, turnips, and parsnips, all | are included among good salad vegetables.

Both colorful and appetizing are cabbage, beets and apples, as winter-time salad makings. When apples are used the skin should be left on as it brings red or green touch to the salad. Cabbage and Beet Salad is a bright luncheon dish for the post-festive season. Ingredients: Two cups finely shredded cabbage; one cup diced celery, one cup diced, un-Butterscotch Slices-Ingredi- peeled, red apples; one-half cup lettuce leaves or outer cabbage Method: Cream fat and sugar leaves. Garnish with parsley
