Peace In Palestine Is Approached From New Angle By U.N.

PARIS (CP)—Dr. Ralph Bunche, acting United Nations mediator for Palestine, today presented to a private session of the Security Council, draft of a resolution which would call on Arabs and Jews to begin armistice and peace negotiations immediately.

The Security Council has explored a new approach to peace in Palestine, transforming the present truce into a United Nations-sponsored armistice. The Council had two sessions scheduled for today—one private and one open. Some sources say the armistice would widen the separation of Jewish and Arab forces.

Meanwhile Israel has formally asked the United Nations to investigate reports that "not inconsiderable numbers of British troops have entered Transjordan and some, Palestine.

The Arab Legion of Transjordan is British-trained and subsidized. It bore the brunt of summer fighting in Jerusalem. The Egyptians are reported evacuating Gaza.

PRINCE RUPERT ON AIR NETWORK

Prince Rupert is to be featured as Canada's "Town of the Week" on the Canadian coast-to-coast radio broadcast on December 22. Don Forward, director of Prince Rupert's Civic Centre, has been advised.

This city has been selected, says a letter from Ogilvie Flour Mills Co. Ltd. of Montreal, sponsors of the "Town of the Week" program, because of the fine community efforts shown here by the Civic Centre organization.

Further, a check for $100 is to be presented by the milling company to assist in Civic Centre work.

The program will give Prince Rupert much valuable publicity including facts of historical background and present population, industries, educational facilities, beauty spots, interesting buildings and streets, featuring, of course, the Civic Centre itself, what it has already done and what it hopes to accomplish.

PEOPLE TO VOTE ON POLICING, PARK FINANCING, CHLORINATION

The number of plebiscites which will be held in conjunction with next December's civic elections was boosted by two last night when Alderman George Casey obtained passage by council of a pair of resolutions which will sound out local opinion on policing methods in the city and on a plan for financing park improvement.

Another resolution, urging a plebiscite on the matter of whether the mayor should be elected for one year or two, was defeated by the aldermen by a vote of eight to one, Mr. Casey being the sole supporter of his motion.

Alderman Casey now stands as the champion plebiscite promoter of the year with three to his credit. An earlier one which passed through council last summer under his sponsorship, will ask the voters to give their opinion of chlorination of the city's water supply.

Two NEW QUESTIONS

The two resolutions which were passed last night will seek popular opinion on the questions:

1. "Do you approve the policy of policing the city with provincial police by annual contract with the provincial government?"

2. "Do you approve of a special levy of one mill to be added to the tax rate for five years for the improvement of city parks?"

In speaking to the resolution on the police plebiscite, Alderman Casey said that he "had no quarrel with the police" but that he disagreed with the principle of centralized police authority.

"Besides, the Indians are not exactly getting a proper show when they come to town," he said. "The police give them too much attention."

Mayor Arnold replied that Sgt. Potterton had informed her that of the number of native

RULE FROM VICTORIA

Alderman McKay supported Alderman Casey in objecting to "rule from Victoria."

Alderman T. B. Black said that "I feel this is the best system of policing that Prince Rupert ever had and I am in favor of continuing it."

Mayor Arnold reminded the aldermen that, if the electorate did vote against policing by the provincial police force, the city would have to cancel its contract and organize a city police department.
