CEEING... with CEE
It looks like rain and, when that high fog gets too big to support its own weight, it is nice to be able to open your purse and pop an umbrella in nature's weeping face. Those 11-ounce umbrellas that fold and telescope to a neat 12-inch roll are available in town. If you have a standard umbrella these little surprise packets make a very acceptable gift and you are boosting a home product at the same time for these protectors of milady's finery are made in British Columbia.
Checked travelling coats with the full-back style look right smart and would certainly brighten the Third Avenue scene on a dull day when the sun sulks behind the clouds.
Miniature totem poles cast in gold or a gold-filled metal are something to make your ears look different. They are fitted to suit the pierced lobe or the unpierced ear. Friends who live far from this land of the totems would surely appreciate receiving a present of this type. While you were at it you might send along an outline of the history of the totem pole.
It won't be long before cool nights make flannelette the favorite next-to-the-skin garment. Flannelette isn't exactly a glut on the local market but you don't have to walk a mile along Third Avenue to find all you need. If the lady of the house is handy with the sewing machine she will likely want to make pajamas for the children and any youngster would be delighted with the colorful little figures on some of the printed material available right now.
Gray flannelette to line children's garments against the chill of winter rain and wind and plain white flannelette may be purchased by the yard. Flannelette bed sheets have been in good supply for quite some time now.
Family size (8 cups) stainless steel percolators with thick copper bottoms are on the local market now. So are 2-quart singing tea kettles made of solid copper, plated with chrome.
When son or daughter is old enough to understand the story of the Gingerbread Boy, mother can make a definite hit with her off-spring by acquiring one of those plastic cookie cutters that are molded to the Gingerbread Boy pattern.
The housewife can now be really gay as she goes about her morning sweeping. She can buy brooms to match her kitchen decorations or her dress. The straw is dyed so there is a choice of dazzling shades including reds, blues and greens.
Many homemakers are doing their best to keep the family budget out of the red and one proof of this is the amount of home canning being done. One dealer reports that he has already sold close to 10,000 cans this season.
The foam-type rubber mattress is available for home use now and they certainly look and feel as though they would be a great help to resting one's weary body after the daily grind.

Wilson is President
Elected Head of Football Association—Protested Game Thrown Out
At a well-attended meeting of the Prince Rupert Football Association last evening in the Canadian Legion rooms the resignation tendered by William Murray as president of the Association was accepted with regret and J. S. Wilson was elected to replace him. S. P. Woodside continues as vice-president and official referee. Ralph Smith is secretary-treasurer.
The protest submitted by the High School team in connection with the last game played in the Gilhuy Cup competition was considered by a committee appointed by President J. S. Wilson and their recommendation that the game be thrown out and replayed was endorsed by the meeting. This game will, therefore, be played on Wednesday, September 1.
The Mobley Cup competition begins this evening with High School and the Canadian Legion playing.
HIGH SCHOOL LINE-UP
Team to represent the High School in their game with the Canadian Legion this evening in the first match of the Mobley Cup competition will be selected from Boulter, Hebb, Olsen, Shier, Charlie Currie, Bob Currie, Sharpe, Iien, Pat Wilson, Jones, Owens, Anderson, and Large.

Sport Shots
The Edmonton Fair Grounds, sporting heart of a sporting city, often have been criticized as inadequate but rarely has there been such a piece-by-piece blast as one levelled by Stan Mohr (Edmonton Bulletin). He lists hockey, horse racing and the summer fair as activities that should be given a break.
"Winter-time attendance at (Edmonton) Flyer Hockey games has had the walls of the arena bulging at the seams for two or three seasons. On any big day at the race meets it has become a straight case of survival of the fittest. The Royal American Shows, even when headlined by such a pillar of the community as Sally Rand, hardly boast of living space. It's the same all down the line. Edmonton has long since stepped out in long trousers. However, certain parts of the wardrobe continue to be those of a little boy. Those Fair Grounds can be included."

INDOOR TRACK WORK NEEDED
Canadian Olympic Aspirants Will Have to do Like U.S., Says Percy Williams
VANCOUVER, (C)—Percy Williams, star of the track in a previous Olympiad, now a greying business man, said yesterday that Canada must have the "hot house" system of indoor training to make better showings at the Olympic Games.
The wing-footed athlete who made the world look at him in the 1928 Olympic Games, said that the United States found that indoor work during the winter months was essential.
"Here," he said, "it is tragic to see our track people during the winter try to work out swathed in sweat shirts and towels."
