COALITION IS NOT BREAKING

Kenney Speaks on Gas Line, Hospital Insurance, Aluminum, Pulp and Paper

As long as the coalition was giving good government to the province of British Columbia, he saw no reason why it should break up, Hon. E. T. Kenney, minister of lands and forests, told the Prince Rupert Liberal Association Thursday night. No government, he declared, was set up to perpetuate political parties but rather it was the duty of government to give good business administration and he felt justified in saying that British Columbia's coalition had given fair service. Any time a government showed more interest in perpetuation of party than the service of the people, the people of Canada could be expected to rise up in arms.

Mr. Kenney, speaking of the question of an Alberta gas line to the coast, reiterated favor for the Yellowhead all-Canadian route and expressed the opinion that the Peace River would eventually become an important feeder to such a line. Nevertheless, he felt that such British Columbia members as E. T. Appiewhaite, M. P. for Skeena, were sincere in supporting the granting of charters to more than one pipe line company so that there might be no monopoly.

The minister of lands stoutly defended British Columbia's hospital insurance scheme which he felt had the preponderance of public support behind it and was certain to be maintained. Mistakes might have been made but he felt the scheme was now on an even keel and was in good hands.

Mr. Kenney spoke of the natives and felt that the obligation did not cease with giving them the vote. Every step should be taken to better their lot and make them good and responsible citizens.

"I cannot see why the Japs should be encouraged to come back into the fisheries of British Columbia," he declared, asserting that the Indians were well fitted by natural adaptability for work in the fishing industry.

Mr. Kenney stated that the Aluminum Co. of Canada was progressing favorably with its investigations with a view to locating in British Columbia. Last year half a million dollars had been spent on engineering research with a view to development of power in the Whitesail-Eutsuk-Tahtsa area and another quarter of a million was to be expended this year particularly on the projected transmission line between Kemano River power house and the plant at Kitimaat which covered some difficult mountain country. He insisted that no important salmon spawning grounds were involved in the Nechako River area and pointed out again that the principal critic of the aluminum

Widely Mourned— Frank Dobb Passes Away

Prominent Citizen, Skilled Artisan and Community Worker Dies

Frank Dobb, master craftsman of the typographical profession and head of the Dobb Printing Co. here, long prominent in public service and fraternal circles and leading citizen, passed away yesterday afternoon at 3:15 in the Prince Rupert General Hospital. His death will be widely mourned. Although he had passed through a critical illness a few weeks ago, he had rallied strongly and his demise after a second cerebral hemorrhage, came as a deep shock to his many friends. The final relapse came at his home Wednesday night. He had been able to be out earlier in the day to see the Victoria Day parade.

Mr. Dobb was born in Pudsey, Leeds, England, and would have been 68 years of age had he lived until December. Having learned the typographical trade in the Old Country, Mr. Dobb came to Canada at the age of 23 and was first located at Saskatoon in the plant of the old Phoenix newspaper. In 1912 he moved to Calgary where he became interested in the Albertan newspaper. After four years there he went to Kelowna to become the manager of a weekly newspaper. Following a short time in the Okanagan city, he moved to Vancouver to join the printing firm of Rose, Cowan & Latta. In 1920, when that firm took over the printing business of K. L. Raik here, Mr. Dobb became partner manager. In 1938 he bought out the Rose, Cowan & Latta interests and changed the name of the firm to Dobb Printing Co. Recently his son, George Dobb, took over the business.

Years ago Mr. Dobb served for two terms as an alderman but his principal interest in public affairs was in connection with the Prince Rupert General Hospital to which he devoted much time and energy. He was four years president of the hospital board and it was during his regime that the new Prince Rupert General Hospital was built. He was chairman of the building committee.

Mr. Dobb was also prominent in affairs of the Masonic Lodge and was a past master of Tsimpsean Lodge and past district deputy grand master. He was also a member of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce and a charter member of the Prince Rupert Gyro Club.

Britain Ends Gas Rationing

LONDON — Britain today abolished gasoline rationing. Fuel minister Philip Noel-Baker, who made the announcement in the Commons, said the move—a major step in the gradual easing of wartime controls—is effective tomorrow. He said two American oil companies agreed to bring in additional supplies of oil and to accept Sterling instead of dollars in payment. Since gasoline went on ration September 23, 1939, motorists have been allowed varying amounts, permitting from 80 to 270 miles driving a month.

Terrace Crowns Queen Of May

Victoria Day Well Celebrated At Interior Town

TERRACE — Sharon McIlroy, 13, pretty, dark-haired daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. McIlroy of Terrace and the Canadian Legion candidate, was crowned May Queen at the Kinsmen's Empire Day celebrations at the Civic Centre on Wednesday afternoon before a large crowd of people. The crowning took place on the stage in the Auditorium, last year's queen, Margery Thomas placing the crown on her successor's head. Queen Sharon then gave her thanks to all for making her queen and to her sponsors, the Legion Club. Her attendants were, Audrey Murie, Shirley Cole, Evelyn Jackson and two small flower girls, Sandra Gordon and Judy Kerby. The Terrace Cub pack formed the guard of honor. Then followed the Maypole Dance by the girls of grade 5 under the direction of Miss V. Booth.

There was a big program of races and contests for the boys and girls and adults with a horseshoe tournament running all afternoon. A softball game was played during the afternoon between Prince Rupert and Terrace teams with the latter winning by a large margin. The tug-o-war was won for the third year in succession by the Orange Lodge and the trophy is now retained by them.

In the gym of the Centre, the refreshment booth, crown n' anchor, hoopla, bottle toss, bingo and fish pond drew the crowds and nickels and the day was a big, financial success for the Kin and everyone had a grand time.

The dance in the auditorium in the evening, had a very large crowd of happy dancers and the peppy music of Gavan's Rhythmaires kept everyone moving. The lucky ticket winners were drawn by Queen Sharon, the first prize of $100 going to A. E. Carlson and the second prize of 50 to Miss Mary Little. These were presented by Joe Schultz, president of the Kin.

Algoma Park Is Preferred

Over Roosevelt Park as Centre of Field Sports Activities

Prince Rupert Public Relations Council will ask City Council to attempt to have the Park committee spend a portion of the mill rate allotted to park improvements, on Algoma Park for the purpose of turning the park into a ball field. This was decided by the council at a meeting Thursday night after considerable discussion.

Council felt the park should be improved with a view of having it as a centre of field activities instead of Roosevelt Park. It would centralize sport activities especially after the building of projected tennis courts at Sixth Avenue and McBride Street. They felt that Roosevelt Park was less suitable as it was open to severe winds and colder air.

Vice-president Ed. Williams will arrange a meeting by the finance committee in order that the committee arrange for collection of contributions from various city firms so that the work of the council can be carried on throughout 1950.

Correspondence read by secretary H. F. Glassey was approved by members. In the absence of President Ed. Mussellam, Vice-President Williams acted as chairman.
